IMPULSE.
IN CONSEQUENCE OF THE SEVERE ACCIDENT TO MISS ANNIE MAYOR, IT HAS BEEN FOUND NECESSARY TO POSTPONE THE PRODUCTION OF "IMPULSE" UNTIL WEDNESDAY, May 14th. SEATS BOOKED FOR SATURDAY or MONDAY MAY BE TRANSFERRED TO WEDNESDAY, OR ANY OTHER NIGHT of the IMPULSE SEASON.

THEATRE ROYAL.
PRELIMINARY ANNOUNCEMENT.
Messrs. WILLIAMSON, GARNER, and MUSGROVE have much pleasure in announcing that on WEDNESDAY EVENING, May 14th, will be acted, for the first time in Sydney, a new play, entitled
IMPULSE,
written by B. C. Stephenson, founded upon "La Maison du Mari."
IMPULSE
was produced in London in the autumn of 1882, at the St. James' Theatre, under the direction of Messrs. Hare and Kendal, and at once achieved a most remarkable success.
A powerful dramatic story, strong female interest, an abundance of comedy element, with refined and smartly-written dialogue, are generally admitted to be the principal ingredients of a successful play. It is no wonder, therefore, that was received nightly with enthusiasm for over 300 consecutive performances.
IMPULSE
was first acted in Australia on Boxing Night, December 26, 1883, at the Princess Theatre, Melbourne, by the ROYAL DRAMATIC COMPANY.
The performance was greeted with acclamation by the critics and the public, who, without a dissenting voice, pronounced that this of all the excellent productions under the present management was the most eulogiums being showered upon the play, the acting, and the appointments. The result was highly satisfactory to all concerned, yielding delightful entertainment to all classes of playgoers, increased popularity to the actors, and an overflowing treasury to the managers.
The success was so great that
IMPULSE
was played for
SEVENTY CONSECUTIVE NIGHTS, throughout which time the theatre was crowded, the audiences on the last nights being even LARGER
MORE ENTHUSIASTIC
than on the first, the byword in society being
HAVE YOU SEEN "IMPULSE"?

Musical Instruments.

THE MIGNON PIANO AGAINST THE WORLD.

Notwithstanding the number of would-be imitators of this fine Model Piano, the instrument holds its own against them all. Not even in the great city of London—which is such a vast emporium for pianos—has there yet appeared a piano to compare for a moment to the

MIGNON PIANO.

Our competitors in this part of the world have no doubt worried their brains in their endeavours to procure an instrument to offer in opposition to the Mignon. How bitter must be their disappointment! What has been the result of their researches? They show pianettes, or small pianos, pretending they are Mignon Pianos; also the construction and general workmanship very much inferior.

THE MIGNON PIANO

is not a pianette, but an instrument of ordinary cottage size, and is as well finished as a 90-guinea instrument. It is overstrung (double oblique) trichord, seven octaves in compass. Its quality of tone is of the very finest, and with a remarkable touch, which enables the youngest player to perform with perfect ease and freedom. The instrument is iron-framed, has a beautiful ivory keyboard, and is enclosed in an elegant and most chaste style of case, in walnut and walnut and gold engraved, also ebonised and ebonised and gold engraved.

THE MIGNON PIANO

is unapproached by any other similar value piano. The demand for this piano is steadily increasing, and the instrument is now to be found in almost every town in New South Wales and Victoria. The price is exceedingly low for so superb an instrument. This model can be sent to any part of Australia without fear.

WE GUARANTEE IT FOR SEVEN YEARS.

EVERYONE that has purchased a MIGNON PIANO, admits that it is the finest and best toned and BEST VALUE PIANO, ever seen in Australia.

THE DISTINCTIVE FEATURES in the MIGNON PIANO are Superb Quality of Tone, Beauty of Finish, and Grandness of construction.

ALL IMPARTIAL PERSONS are cordially invited to examine the MIGNON PIANO. Every facility will be given. We have no fear of the result.

NO ONE need fear of being OVERCHARGED for the MIGNON PIANO. We have only one price; we charge the lowest possible, and give the best value to all customers.

NOTHING but patience and perseverance could have enabled us to produce so grand an instrument as the MIGNON PIANO.

Many months of labour and a large outlay of money were spent before this model was ultimately turned out, and were it not that we placed a very large contract extending over some years, it would have been impossible to procure so rich and valuable a piano.

FISHERIES ACT AMENDMENT BILL.

The following is a copy of the bill introduced in the Legislative Assembly on Wednesday last, by the Colonial Secretary, for the amendment of the Fisheries Act of 1881, the promotion of oyster culture, and the regulation of oyster fisheries:—

"1. This Act may be cited as the 'Oyster Fisheries Act of 1884,' and for the purposes thereof the expression 'Commissioners' means the commissioners of fisheries; 'Governor' means the Governor with the advice of the Executive Council; 'High-water mark' means the mean line between high-water at spring and high-water at neap tide; 'Prescribed' means prescribed by this Act or by regulations made thereunder; 'Foreshore' means the portion of Crown lands situate between the line of high and low watermark; 'Oyster' means every kind of oyster, together with the sprat brood and ware thereof; 'Leased area' means any portion of land leased for oyster culture under this Act or the Acts hereby in part repealed; and 'lawful authority' means an authority, the nature and effect whereof must be proved by the person who sets it up by way of exemption.

"2. The enactments specified in schedule shall, to the extend therein indicated, be repealed, but no act done, offence committed, or proceeding commenced before the passing of this Act under any such enactment shall (save as is hereinafter expressly enacted) be affected by the repeal thereof. All regulations and proclamations made under the authority of any such repealed enactments shall be, and until rescinded by the Governor, as hereinafter provided, continue to be of the same force and effect as if this Act had not been passed. And all dredging licenses issued before the passing of this Act shall, subject to the leasing provisions of this Act, have the like force and effect during their currency.

"3. Notwithstanding the repeal effected by the last preceding section all applications for leases of Crown lands for oyster culture made before the passing of the Act, and provisionally recommended by the commissioners to be carried into effect, shall be dealt with under the enactments hereby repealed, so far as the same are applicable to the issue of such leases, but all such leases shall, as to payment of rent, royalty, and all other obligations and conditions, be held under and subject to the provisions of this Act and the regulations made thereunder. Provided that all such applications shall be subject to the following directions and conditions namely:—(1.) In any case where two or more persons have applied for the same area, the application to be first dealt with shall be that which was first lodged, and if several such applications were lodged at the same time, the right to priority shall be determined by lot in such manner as the Minister shall direct. If after the satisfaction of any application entitled to priority any residuary area remains, such area may be allotted to the applicant next in order of time, and so on. (2.) Any application may be withdrawn by the applicant who made it, whereupon any sum deposited as payment of rent in advance shall be returned to the applicant. (3.) It shall not be an objection to the issue of a lease of Crown lands to any such applicant that the area applied for contains one or more natural oyster-beds within the meaning of the Acts hereinbefore in part repealed, if such bed or beds be not situated on any public oyster reserve notified under the thirty-third section of the 'Fisheries Act, 1881.' (4.) Where the area applied for abutted at the date of application on Crown land above the line of high-watermark, which since such date has been alienated by the Crown, the application shall not thereby be prejudiced, nor shall the right of the applicant be defeated by the holder of the land so alienated. (5.) It shall not be an objection to the issue of a lease to any applicant that such applicant was not at the date of his application either an owner, lessee, or occupant of the land abutting on or bounded by the area applied for within the meaning of the 'Fisheries Act, 1881' as amended by the 'Fisheries Act Amendment Act, 1883,' in any case where such applicant shall within ninety days after the passing of this Act lodge with the commissioners the written consent of the person entitled to an estate of freehold in possession of such land or of the lessee thereof for an unexpired term of at least fifteen years, or shall satisfy the commissioners that he has endeavoured but failed to procure such consent as hereinafter provided. And for the purposes of the present enactment any person or persons, corporation, aggregate or sole, and any joint stock company entitled to an estate of freehold in such land may give such consent. Every such consent shall be taken to be dated as of the date of the application, but shall not cover more of the area applied for than is covered by the title of the party consenting. And every person, corporation, and company hereby authorised to give such consent, may enter into any contract for or in respect to the grant thereof, or may make application for an oyster culture lease as hereinafter provided. (6.) All persons, corporations, and companies empowered to give consent to any such application may refuse to give such consent; but no refusal or neglect shall prejudice or defeat any such application unless, within sixty days from the passing of this Act, the party refusing or failing to give such consent shall lodge with the commissioners an application for an oyster culture lease on his own behalf of the land in respect of which such consent was required or would have been necessary. (7.) For the purposes of this section every act of the duly appointed agent, manager, public officer, attorney, or representative of any person, corporation, or company empowered by this act to do such Act shall (it otherwise valid) be deemed to be the act of such person, corporation, or company respectively. (8.) Before any lease is issued to any such applicant or any authority is granted to him whereby he may be put in possession of the ground applied for, there shall be lodged with the commissioners, by or on behalf of such applicant, a Treasury receipt for the payment in advance of the full amount of the first year's rent, pursuant to the respective enactments hereby repealed. And for the purposes of computing such rent, the term shall be taken to have commenced on the day of the passing of this Act.

"4. Oyster culture leases of Crown lands in any tidal waters, or in any lake or lagoon communicating therewith, may be granted by the Governor. Such leases shall be subject to the conditions and provisions following:—(1.) The term of any such lease shall not exceed fifteen years, renewable from time to time on the application of the lessee during the 12th year of the term if the Governor shall be satisfied after report by an inspector to the commissioners that the area leased is fairly stocked with oysters, and has been properly worked in accordance with the conditions of the lease and the regulations. (2.) No leased area measured along the foreshore shall exceed 2000 linear yards, unless upon special recommendation of the commissioners the Governor shall think fit to enlarge such length. But nothing in this section contained shall prevent the Governor from granting leases according to prescribed dimensions and areas, provided that no such area shall exceed 25 acres, or be leased at a less annual rental than £2 per acre. (3.) The annual rent shall be at the rate of 20s. for every linear 100 yards measured along the foreshore in the prescribed manner; and in any case where the foreshore on both sides of a tidal water is included in a lease, such foreshore shall be measured on both sides for the purpose of ascertaining the rent. Such rent shall be paid at the times and places and to the persons prescribed. (4.) Such leases may be granted on application, or be disposed of by auction or tender as the Governor may from time to time direct, and shall be held subject to the payment of a royalty to her Majesty of three shillings per bag, containing not more than three bushels of oysters. (5.) Occupation under any such lease shall not give any right to the lessee to occupy or use any portion of Crown lands abutting on but not included in his lease, except for such purposes and during such times as may be prescribed. (6.) Any leased area may be described in the lease by reference to posts, stakes, buoys, marks, or natural features showing the limits of such leased area in a manner sufficient to allow of their identification. (7.) Every such lease shall vest in the lessee, his executors, administrators, and assigns the exclusive right during the currency of the lease of laying and planting oysters on and of dredging and taking oysters from the area leased, but subject always to the right of any inspector or authorised officer to enter upon such area for any other authorised purpose. (8.) The Governor may, if recommended by the commissioners, accept a surrender after the third year of its currency of any lease granted under this section, in any case where it shall appear to the satisfaction of the commissioners that oyster culture cannot be carried on upon the leased area with any reasonable hope of success, or where from any other reason the commissioners shall report in favour of such surrender. (9) Every such lease shall be subject to such conditions and provisions as may be prescribed by the regulations or approved by the Governor. Every leased area shall be subject to all reclamation rights conferred by the 9th section of the 'Crown Lands Alienation Act of 1861,' or any Act amending the same.

"5. Before any such lease applied for after the passing of this Act shall be granted, the commissioners shall cause a notice of the application to be inserted in the Gazette, and in some newspaper circulating in the police district within which the land applied for is situated. And any person may, by memorial to the commissioners, within 30 days after the date of such Gazette notice, pray that the lease applied for be not granted, on grounds to be therein stated. Any memorial so presented shall be inquired into by the commissioners.

"6. It shall not be lawful for any person other than the lessee, his agents and servants, within the limits of any leased area, to do any of the following acts, viz.:—(1.) To take or in any way disturb or interfere with any oysters without the consent of the holder of the lease. (2.) To deposit any stone, ballast, rubbish, or substance. (3.) To dredge or drag with any implement unless by direction of the commissioners or the proper officer of the Department of Harbours and Rivers, or the Marine Board, and in any such case on payment of compensation for damage done, if any. (4.) To use any implement of fishing except a line and hook. (5.) To place any implement or thing likely to injure oysters except for a lawful purpose of navigation or anchorage. And if any person does any act in contravention of this section he shall be liable for the first offence to a penalty not exceeding five pounds, and for the second offence to a penalty not exceeding ten nor less than five pounds, and for a third or subsequent offence to a penalty of twenty pounds. And shall be liable to make compensation to the lessee for all damage sustained by such lessee by reason of such person's unlawful act, and in default of payment the same may be recovered by the lessee in any Court not incompetent by statute in respect to the amount or nature of the claim, and whether such person has been convicted of an offence under this section or not.

"7. If it shall appear to the commissioners that any lessee has not within a period of two years from the date of his lease taken proper measures to carry out the conditions of his lease, or that upon any such inspection as is mentioned in the fourth section of this Act the condition of the leased area is such as to disentitle the lessee to renewal of the lease, they may recommend the Governor to revoke the lease. And the Governor shall have power to revoke the same accordingly by notification in the Gazette, and upon the publication of such notification, all rights and privileges granted by such lease and the term thereby demised shall cease and determine. Provided always that before making such recommendation the commissioners shall cause a notice in writing, stating their intention to make such recommendation, to be served on the holder of the lease; or in case such holder cannot be found, they shall cause such notice to be inserted at least three times in a newspaper circulating in the police district nearest to the area leased, and also to be published once in the Gazette. No such recommendation shall be made until after the expiration of one calendar month from the publication of such notice in the Gazette.

"8. The Governor by notification in the Gazette, may declare any portion of Crown lands, whether applied for before the passing of this Act as an oyster lease or not, containing deposits of oysters, to be a public oyster reserve, and to be exempt from the power of leasing conferred by this Act, either absolutely or for a limited period, and on the recommendation of the commissioners, and in like manner may cancel any such notification wholly or in part.

"9. If any person without lawful authority shall dredge for or otherwise take from any leased area any oysters, or shall be found dredging for or attempting to take oysters within the limits of such area, he shall incur a penalty not exceeding twenty pounds, and not less than five pounds; and all oysters found in his possession shall be deemed to be oysters unlawfully taken by him, and shall on his conviction be forfeited to the use of her Majesty, or be returned to the rightful owner as the circumstances of the case shall require.

"10. If any person shall dredge for or take oysters from any leased area, or from any beds or deposits on Crown lands, at any time between sunset and sunrise, except under special permit, he shall incur a penalty for every offence not exceeding fifty pounds.

"11. All oysters within the limits of any leased area shall be the absolute property of the lessee, and shall for all purposes whatsoever be deemed to be in the actual possession of such lessee; and all oysters removed without lawful authority by any person from any such area shall be deemed to be the property of such lessee, and he shall be deemed to have the right to the possession thereof for all purposes whatsoever. Oysters on a public oyster reserve or on Crown land not under lease, and oysters taken therefrom without lawful authority, shall be deemed to be the property of her Majesty.

"12. Every person who shall gather or burn live oysters for the purpose of converting their shells into lime shell, whether he be the holder of a lease under this Act or not, incur for every such offence a penalty not exceeding fifty pounds.

"13. All royalties to be collected under the authority of this Act of the regulations shall be collected, and the payment thereof enforced, by the Collector of Customs in the same manner as any Customs duty imposed by law.

"14. Whenever the commissioners report that any bed or deposit of oysters on Crown lands not under lease has by over-dredging or from any other cause been reduced to such a state that the taking of oysters therefrom ought to be suspended, the Governor may prohibit by proclamation in the Gazette, for any term not exceeding three years, the taking of oysters from the bed or deposit; and if any person shall, without lawful authority, at any time during the period mentioned in such proclamation, take or attempt to take oysters from any bed or deposit described in such proclamation such person shall incur a penalty not exceeding twenty pounds, nor less than five pounds; and all oysters and the bags containing them, together with all dredging or other appliances for the taking of oysters, found in the possession of any person so offending may be seized, and upon conviction of the offender shall be forfeited to her Majesty; and the Governor may in like manner rescind any such proclamation, or any proclamation made under the hereinbefore in part repealed Acts relating to the opening or closing of oyster-beds.

"15. The Governor may from time to time make regulations for the purpose of giving effect to the provisions of this Act in all matters of detail whatsoever, and among such purposes shall be included the following, namely:—(1.) For taking oysters from Crown lands not under lease under such limitations as to number of licensed dredgers as the commissioners shall deem fit, and subject to the payment of the prescribed license fees and royalties and inspection, and for the seizure and disposal of oysters unlawfully removed from Crown lands. (2.) For making the boundaries of and periodically inspecting leased areas; and to give due effect to the intent of this sub-section every inspector and every officer duly authorised by the commissioners shall have a right of entry on all lands whatever for purposes of survey, or of erecting and maintaining beacons or other marks for or in connection with the boundaries of leased areas or public oyster reserves. (3.) For the allotment or sale of young or foreshore oysters on public oyster reserves to the holders of leased areas. (4.) For determining the size of marketable oysters and the penalties for selling or exposing for sale undersized oysters, and for disposing of or selling oysters seized or forfeited under this Act. (5.) For the protection and regulation of public oyster reserves, for the limitation and regulation of dredging by divers on such reserves, and for the protection and regulation of all boundary beacons, buoys, or other marks. (6.) For compelling lessees and other persons to return all undersized oysters, together with all dead shells, cultch, and substances dredged up from beds, in such a manner as may be most beneficial for the preservation of such beds. (7.) For preventing the destruction of oysters by refuse from sawmills, paper mills, gasworks, or any other deleterious matter, and for prohibiting such matter from being deposited in tidal waters. (8.) For prescribing the amount of penalties for breaches of any such regulations; provided that no such penalty shall exceed fifty pounds. And all such regulations shall be published in the Gazette, and when so published shall have the force of law, and a copy thereof shall be laid before each House of Parliament within fourteen days after the making thereof if Parliament be then in session, and if not, then within fourteen days after the commencement of the then next ensuing session. The Governor may in like manner rescind any regulation made, or purporting to be made, under the authority of any of the enactments hereinbefore repealed which he may consider inconsistent with the meaning or intent of this Act.

"16. The adjudicating justices shall have power to award to the informer, seizing officer, or prosecutor an amount not out of every penalty, fine, or forfeiture not exceeding in the aggregate thereof one moiety, and the remainder shall be paid into the consolidated revenue fund, and the commissioners may order that oysters seized and forfeited shall be laid down upon a public oyster reserve.

"17. The sections and parts of sections of the Fisheries Act 1881 hereunder specified shall be applied to this Act with as full effect as if they had been herein specially enacted—namely, as to procedure and appeal (sections fifty-eight and sixty), as to the protection of officers and others in the execution of their duty (section sixty-one), as to the apprehension and disposal of offenders (section sixty-two), as to assistance to officers in the execution of their duty (section sixty-four), as to evidence (section sixty-six), and as to the search for and seizure of oysters (section sixty-seven). And wherever in the sections so declared to be applied the words 'this Act' occur such words shall be taken to include this present Act and any regulations made under it."

RUNNING A TRAIN ON THE WRONG LINE.

Walter Abbott, an engine-driver on the railways, was charged on summons, before Mr. Abbott, S.M., at the Central Police Court, on Thursday afternoon last, with "that he did, on the 23rd March last, whilst employed as a locomotive driver upon the Great Western line, run his engine between Parramatta and Granville wilfully and negligently, to the danger of one John Anderson, an engine-driver." Mr. Harris conducted the prosecution, and Mr. Levien appeared for the defence. Evidence was given in the case as follows:—Sydney Smith, a night officer stationed at Parramatta, deposed: The defendant arrived at that station with his train, 20 minutes late, at 25 minutes past 12 o'clock p.m., on the date in question; his engine was detached so as to be taken to the other end of the train to take it on to Sydney; in shunting, the defendant's engine ran into the end of the Western train which was standing at the station on the up-line; the buffers of the defendant's engine were damaged, and so was the head-stock of the Western train engine; the defendant's engine was turned from the up to the down line, and was then attached to his train; the Western train drew up so as to allow the defendant's train to pass on to the up-line; before the points were manipulated, he started his engine and took the train along the down-line instead of along the up-line; the witness endeavoured to attract the defendant's attention to the fact that he had made a mistake, but he failed to draw his notice to it, and the defendant ran his train on to Granville; before the train had started witness said to the guard, "All right this end as soon as you are in front;" there were several passengers in the defendant's train; he sent a telegram to the Granville station after the train had arrived there, asking if it had arrived safely, and he received a reply to the effect that it had. In cross-examination the witness said that he gave the shunter at the station instructions to go to the points in order to turn the defendant's train on to the right line before it was started. John Roberts Walters, shunter, deposed: It was his duty to have attended to the points in order to have shunted the defendant's train on to the right line; he received no instructions to go to them until after the train had left the station. Henry M'Auliffe, the guard of the defendant's train, deposed: Before the train started the first witness said to him, "All right this end, if you are in front," and immediately afterwards he made a remark to the effect that he had better start, as he was then behind time; there was no green light at the points, and witness drew defendant's attention to that fact; Smith said that he would send a man to the points, and witness then told the defendant to start when a green light was shown; in less than a minute afterwards the defendant whistled and started, taking his train along the down-line to Granville. Walter Longford, a night officer at Granville, deposed that the defendant arrived with his train at that station on the wrong line; the line was clear, but a few minutes before that time there was a goods train on it; the person, John Anderson, mentioned in the information was the driver in charge of that train. Mr. Abbott committed the defendant for trial, and in so doing he remarked that he had no doubt that a prima facie case was not made out as far as the defendant's endangering Anderson was concerned, for he was away upon another line with his engine; but his opinion was that the safety of the passengers in the train driven by the defendant was jeopardised. Another step had to be taken before the defendant could be tried, and the Attorney-General would say whether, viewing the whole circumstances, he should be put upon his trial.

POLICE.

WATER POLICE COURT.

Mr. Addison, S.M., disposed of the business on Saturday.

Several persons were dealt with for drunkenness.

John White (42), labourer, and Charlotte Donaldson alias White, were charged with having conducted themselves in an indecent manner in the Domain. The evidence showed that the case was one of a very flagrant nature. Mr. Addison sentenced the male prisoner to six months' imprisonment with hard labour, and in doing so said the case was one of the most disgusting he had ever had to deal with. Fortunately for the male prisoner the information had been laid under the Vagrant Act, which precluded a magistrate from ordering a whipping; otherwise, had the proceedings been instituted under the new Act, the prisoner would have received a sentence of 30 lashes. The female prisoner was ordered to pay a fine of £10, in default to be imprisoned for six months.

John Armstrong (58), described as a dealer, was convicted upon a charge of having conducted himself in an indecent manner in Botany-street, and was fined £5, with the option of going to gaol for three months.

Margaret Walker (45) was fined 40s., or in default one month's imprisonment, for having used bad language in Crown-street; and also 10s., or two days' imprisonment, for drunkenness.

Alfred Wilson (26), described as a shipwright, was fined £10, with the alternative of six months' imprisonment, for having behaved in an indecent manner in the Domain.

Catherine Tarves (10), Annie Tarves (7), William Tarves (4), and Janet E. Tarves (3), were brought before the Court for protection. It appeared that the children had been found in a neglected state in a house at Miller's Point, having been deserted by their parents. An order was made for the admission of the children into the Benevolent Asylum.

NEWTOWN POLICE COURT.

Mr. Crane, S.M., presided on Saturday.

Emily Saunders, charged with using obscene language, was fined 60s., with the alternative of two months in gaol.

George Villiers was charged with assaulting Robert M'Ivor, a bailiff, whilst distraining for debt. Defendant was fined 40s., 5s. 10d. costs of Court, and 21s. professional costs, with the alternative of one month in gaol.

SYDNEY UNIVERSITY.

A monthly meeting of the Senate of the Sydney University was held on the 7th of May, at the rooms of the Royal Society. There were present—Sir Alfred Stephen (presiding), Mr. Justice Faucett, Dr. A. Renwick, Professor Stuart, Sir G. Wigram Allen, Mr. Alexander Oliver, Mr. H. C. Russell, Mr. C. Rolleston, C.M.G.; Dr. MacLaurin, Sir Patrick Jennings, the Hon. William Macleay, Professor Smith, and Professor Liversidge. The Hon. Sir William M. Manning and Mr. Justice Windeyer attended the later part of the meeting, the former taking the chair upon being informed of his re-election to the office of Chancellor. The minutes of previous meetings having been read and the monthly accounts passed, the Senate proceeded to the election of chancellor and vice-chancellor, in accordance with the by-laws. A letter from Mr. George Knox was read, containing copies of the following resolutions which were passed at a meeting of members of convocation and graduates on the 5th instant:—"(1) That it is expedient that larger powers in the government of the university should be conferred upon convocation, including the right to elect the chancellor. (2) That the petition now read be adopted and signed by the chairman on behalf of this meeting, and by him forwarded to the Senate."

The following petition was also laid upon the table:—"To the Senate of the University of Sydney.—The petition of the undersigned members of convocation and graduates of the University respectfully sheweth—1. That of late years the number of members of convocation of the University has largely increased, both by graduation after examinations and by the admission of members of other Universities ad eundem gradum. 2. That in most British Universities the head officer is elected by a body corresponding to our convocation. 3. That in the Universities of Oxford and Cambridge a body corresponding to our convocation has large power of legislation. 4. That your petitioners conceive that it would be for the benefit of the University that similar privileges should be conferred upon convocation. 5. That your petitioners are desirous that a bill should be introduced into Parliament conferring the necessary powers upon convocation. 6. That your petitioners are informed that the office of Chancellor of the University of Sydney is vacant. Your petitioners therefore respectfully pray that the Senate will be pleased to defer the election of a chancellor until the pleasure of Parliament can be made known, or that such other steps may be taken as will enable your petitioners to obtain the sanction of Parliament to the proposed changes in the constitution of the University before such election is made. Dated 5th day of May, 1884. (Signed) GEORGE KNOX, chairman, on behalf of the members of convocation and graduates of the University present at a meeting held at Tattersall's-rooms this day."

It was resolved on the motion of Dr. Renwick, that the petition be considered hereafter in connection with the resolutions proposed by Dr. MacLaurin."

It was unanimously resolved on the motion of Sir Patrick Jennings, seconded by Mr. Rolleston,—"That the Hon. Sir William M. Manning be elected Chancellor." It was also unanimously resolved on the motion of Mr. Rolleston, seconded by Dr. Renwick,—"That Mr. Justice Windeyer be elected vice-chancellor."

The following applications were granted:—That of Dr. J. C. Cox, lecturer in medicine, for the sum of £250 to be placed at his disposal for the purchase of diagrams, &c., for the illustration of his lectures. That of Mr. W. A. Haswell, demonstrator in comparative anatomy, for authority to employ a laboratory boy.

A communication was received from the Minister of Public Instruction, in which he expressed an opinion that as there was only one school of anatomy in the colony, and that under the control of the University, which was responsible to the Department of Public Instruction, there was no necessity to continue the expenditure in connection with the office of inspector of anatomy.

The registrar was instructed to inform the Minister that the Senate concurred in his opinion that the office is not necessary.

Applications for exemption from lectures for one year were granted to Miss Beanland and Mr. H. T. Johnston, subject to the concurrence of the University examiners.

Applications from the following students were refused, there not being sufficient reasons adduced to warrant the concessions:—Messrs. W. T. Byram, G. H. Pike, J. Delaney, T. Riggs, J. G. Legge. An application from five third-year students for permission to take up natural science in their third year, with a view to competing for honours, was referred to the Board of Studies for consideration and report.

Permission to attend the evening lectures, with a view to graduation, was granted to the following applicants, the reasons adduced for their inability to attend during the day being considered satisfactory:—Messrs. Neal Collins, A. H. Griffith, and J. Richardson.

The application of Mr. A. H. Griffith, a matriculated student of the Melbourne University, to be admitted ad eundem statum, was granted.

A report from the committee appointed to report upon the Medical Bill proposed in the Imperial Parliament was read and adopted.

The report recommended that the Senate should address a memorial to the Lord President of the Privy Council, who has charge of the bill now before the House of Lords, asking that the bill may be so amended as to give to the University of Sydney the right of appeal in the case of the proposed Medical Council refusing to recognise its diplomas. The committee was accordingly requested to draw up the memorial.

MONETARY AND COMMERCIAL.

SATURDAY EVENING.

In the Import Markets to-day very little of importance came under notice, and transactions disclose no changes of value. The flour market is without alteration. From Messrs. Kaye and Carter's Christchurch grain circular of the 29th April we learn that the wheat market there was even more depressed than at date of last report, samples at all deteriorated being difficult to quit. From recent American files we learn that the salmon pack of 1883 was the largest on record, amounting to 1,106,400 cases, valued, at 1.25 dollars, at over 5,000,000 dollars. The sources of supply were:—Columbia River, 629,400 cases; Sacramento River, 160,000; Rogue River, 16,000; Coquille River, 7000; Eel River, 15,000; Fraser River, 175,000; other rivers in British Columbia, 68,000; Alaska, 36,000—1,106,400. The shipments from San Francisco to England in 1883 were 55,200 cases, besides 10,000 cases Fraser River salmon in transit; while the shipments from San Francisco to Australia in 1883 were 55,800 cases, besides 4700 cases British Columbia salmon in transit. The total shipments to England of the pack of 1883 were about 100,000 cases less than in the previous year, while to the domestic Atlantic cities the shipments in 1883 were 75,000 to 80,000 cases more than in 1882. In our own market, maize was scarcely so high, sales being made at 5s. 0d. to 5s. per bushel. Other descriptions of produce quoted at about yesterday's rates. The auction business in station export produce disclosed no new feature. Large sound horns were in good demand, at up to 35s. per 100. Horse hair sold freely, and may be quoted at 18d. to 20d. for tail, and 9d. to 12d. for mane.

London cablegrams respecting the Oriental Bank show that the negotiations are still in progress for the formation of a new bank and company—the one to take up the business proper of the bank, and the other to deal with certain of the assets. There is no doubt that the bank has had a large amount of good business, which the shareholders wish to secure by the formation of another bank, and it is thought that the objectionable business in Ceylon and Mauritius, properly nursed by a company including some or many of the shareholders, will be attended with better results than if the whole of the assets are realised under an official liquidator having no special interest in the matter. Shareholders in this way hope to escape with a smaller loss than that which now threatens them; and if they can secure sufficient support to their project, probably their hopes will be realised. Still the arrangements of the official liquidator are being matured. A private cablegram mentions that Messrs. James Balfour and James Steele have been appointed his attorneys in Sydney.

ABSTRACT of SALES by AUCTION THIS DAY.

CADOGAN AND CR

areas of this continent abound in iron ore, but the manufactured article cannot be produced here in any quantity at remunerative rates. There is gold in abundance in many parts, but the capital and the skill needful to reach it are not on the spot. It cannot be denied that prejudice has sometimes done not a little to stop the way of successful methods. In some instances the country has been victimised by mere empirics. An adventuring alchemist has promised to do wonders almost equal to turning stones into gold, to say nothing of drawing gold out of stone where everybody knew of its presence. The Northern Territory being a long way off, and not likely for a long time to be wanted by enterprising persons on this side, may perhaps be allowed to make the experiment of growing rice under Chinese management as well as by Chinese labour. If there is any land suitable for the purpose, there may be many square miles of it. There may be the best of reasons for imposing a heavy license tax on pearl-fishermen, but in the abstract it would seem to be most inexpedient to do so. At any rate, it must be hurtful to impose a tax so heavy that an industry is checked by it. Affairs up north have taken a start, and a wise policy will place nothing in the way of their advance. When they are strong enough to bear it they may be called upon to recoup past expenditure; but even that will be most effectually done by the trade which will spring up and yield fruit for the common good.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

According to our cablegrams of this morning, it would seem that the British Government has determined upon the adoption of a much more vigorous policy in regard to the Soudan than the one pursued of late. In the autumn, Lord Wolseley is to go to Khartoum at the head of 10,000 troops, for the relief of Major-General Gordon and the garrison there. The place is completely invested, but it may be hoped that the garrison will be able to hold out for four or five months until the relief, somewhat tardily afforded, can reach them. The garrisons of Korosko and Dongola have been strengthened, owing to the hostile attitude of the surrounding tribes. The Ottoman Porte has at last replied to the invitation of Great Britain to send representatives to an international congress on Egyptian affairs. It promises to adhere to the decisions of such congress on condition that Egyptian affairs as a whole will be submitted for deliberation. An answer by Mr. Gladstone given to a question put to him in the House of Commons on Friday, implies that there will be nothing to prevent delegates raising questions other than those relating to Egyptian finance. Turkey further urges that the Congress shall be held at Constantinople. From South Africa we learn of another rising in Zululand, apparently of a serious character. Another attempt is being made to solve the difficulty between France and Madagascar. The latter offers to cede the islands around Madagascar and pay an indemnity. The dispute between France and China is, however, far from settled. The proposal of Li Hung Chang for the conclusion of a treaty of peace with France, has been condemned by the new Council of Ministers at Pekin.

London cablegrams are published elsewhere to the effect that plans are being matured for the formation of a new bank on the basis of the Oriental, but that arrangements are not yet complete. A private cable message was received on Saturday from Colombo, stating that the court of directors in London had announced that the scheme was still under consideration to form a new bank to take over the business and connection of the Oriental Bank, and to form a company for taking over the bank's property in the Mauritius and at Ceylon, and which, it was said, would have the support of creditors and shareholders. According to the cablegram of Saturday, from our own correspondent, the new bank scheme is condemned by the press, as the best business had been withdrawn. From a private cablegram we learn that Messrs. James Balfour and James Steele have been appointed attorneys in Sydney for the official liquidator. Our own cable mentions that Messrs. Traill, Hepburn, and Ogilvie have been appointed to a similar position in Melbourne. The announcement that the shares of colonial banks are depressed is not very surprising, as it may be thought that they are more deeply interested than we on this side know them to be. They will no doubt recover their value before long.

The telegraph line between Sydney and Brisbane was interrupted all last night.

From a series of papers just printed to the order of the Legislative Assembly it appears that there was great excitement in Tumberumba in July, 1878, and a public meeting was held, at which a resolution was unanimously adopted to the effect that a courthouse and telegraph office were urgently required. The paternal Government of the day, however, failed to gratify the Tumberumbarians, and in the May of the following year they brought the matter under the notice of the Minister for Justice, stating that the fireplace had partly fallen in, that it was only the matter of a day or two when the chimney would fall, and that the clerk of petty sessions had been obliged to remove his office to one of the lockup cells. These pathetic appeals eventually bore fruit, and in 1880 the sum of £1000 was voted by Parliament for a courthouse and telegraph office. Then, it would appear, the usual question of a site began to agitate the Tumberumba mind, and much correspondence passed thereupon; but it was December, 1881, before a tender for the work was accepted. However, Tumberumba was still doomed to be disappointed, for the contractor could not get men to carry on the work. Fresh tenders were called for in April, 1883, and three were sent in; but they were considered too high, and once more tenders were invited. On the 14th July the tender of Mr. J. Swanston, for £1598, was accepted; and as the notification to that effect closes the correspondence, it is still uncertain whether Tumberumba is satisfied or not. There is one thing certain, though, and that is that the papers are wholly devoid of interest to anyone outside of Tumberumba, and it is to be regretted that the public should be put to the expense of printing such matter.

With a view to preventing any unnecessary expense, it has been determined by the Minister of Public Instruction, the Hon. W. J. Trickett, to send to England a schedule of the books, stationery, and other requisites used in the schools under the Department of Public Instruction, and to invite by advertisements published in London and Edinburgh tenders for the supply of the quantity required annually. Advertisements to the same effect will also be published in Sydney, so that the local booksellers and stationers may have an opportunity for tendering. Hitherto the books, stationery, &c., which have been used in the Public schools have been supplied to the Department through the Sydney branch of the firm of Collins Brothers and Co., and the cost has amounted to the large sum of about £9000 or £10,000 a year. A case containing samples of all that have been used in the schools will be forwarded to the Agent-General by the P. and O. Company's steamship Shannon, which leaves for London on Wednesday, so that tenderers may understand what is required; but in addition to the reading-books which have hitherto been in use, it is intended to obtain the series known as the Nelson Royal Readers, which are used in the Victorian State schools.

A telegram has been received by the Colonial Secretary from the Agent-General informing him that the steamer Abergeldie will sail from London this month with emigrants for Sydney: but that after the Abergeldie's departure, no other vessel with emigrants will leave for Sydney until the expiration of at least eight weeks. The telegram also states that notwithstanding the circumstance that discouraging statements from Sydney have been published in the English provincial papers, many applications for passages to Sydney from persons nominated here, and from others, continue to be received.

The trial survey of a route for the proposed branch line from the Great Northern Railway at Muswellbrooke to Cassilis is again in progress, the breaking-up of the drought having made it possible for the surveyors to resume the work, which, in consequence of the dryness of the season, had to be abandoned at the beginning of the year.

The regulations and instructions for the conduct of traffic on the Government tramways, as signed by the Commissioner for Railways on the 22nd January last, have just been printed by order of the Legislative Assembly. The code seems to be very complete, and if the rules are faithfully carried out, there should be little danger of an accident. Every person in the tramway service is supplied with a copy of these regulations. He is strictly enjoined to read the whole of them, and make himself thoroughly acquainted with them, as no plea of ignorance of any rule will be allowed as an extenuation of a fault, but will be considered rather as an aggravation.

The sixth article on "New Caledonia and its Penal Settlement" by our special commissioner appears in to-day's issue. It describes the arrangements made for the reception of the first transports of convicts to the colony, and sketches the history of the settlement up to a comparatively recent time, showing the principle which animated the penal administration in its treatment of the prisoners and the want of success which attended its humanitarian views. As will be seen from a perusal of the article each new concession made to the convicts was received not with the gratitude which the administration hoped would be the effect, but was marked by an increased number of evasions, the opportunities offered for reform being made facilities for escape. The whole past experience of the colony would appear but to repeat in this instance what has been the story of penal settlement in the past. An honest life of labour in the fields or in the town, the love of family gathered around him in the home, all that makes life beautiful to the best and truest of our fellow-creatures, has no attraction to the criminal. Crime is as much the necessary atmosphere of his life as honesty and good will to his fellow man are component parts of the atmosphere in which breathes the moral life of the good citizen.

The Newcastle Steamship Company's steamer Kembla, which went ashore near Bradley's Head early on Saturday morning, was floated off last night, apparently but little the worse for her mishap. She steamed up to Mort's Dock, where she will most likely be taken on the slip to-day for an examination.

Four men-of-war left Farm Cove on Saturday, for a cruise amongst the islands. H.M.S. Dart is to make an extended cruise, calling first at the Solomon group. H.M.S. Diamond, Raven, and Swinger are also going to the islands, but will call at Brisbane first. The Miranda is to leave on Wednesday.

The weather is still unsettled. On Saturday night several showers of rain fell, just enough to make the streets sloppy, and yesterday the weather, though fine and cool, had at times a threatening appearance. After midnight the indications of fine weather were more marked.

A visit by the police officers to the Domain on Friday night having resulted in a large number of persons who are out of employment being found sleeping upon the rocks and even in water, provision was made on Saturday for affording those people shelter for the present. Mr. Stuart directed that the old police barracks in Macquarie-street should be set apart as a lodging-house, that blankets should be conveyed thither, and that a supply of bread and cheese should be obtained. 110 men went to the building on Saturday night, but as it was not large enough to accommodate all, a goodly number had to lie upon the floor of the verandahs at the front and back of the building. Last evening about 140 men were accommodated with blankets upon the floor of the building and verandah.

Mr. R. Finlayson, the manager of the Balmain branch of the English, Scottish, and Australian Bank, was, on Friday evening, the recipient of a valuable testimonial in the shape of a gold Waltham watch, with chain and locket, subscribed for and purchased by the leading residents of Shoalhaven and Broughton Creek districts, wherein Mr. Finlayson for eight years managed branches of the bank with which he is at present engaged. In consequence of Mr. Finlayson's inability to visit the south and there receive the gift, it was forwarded to Mr. Humphery, the representative of the Shoalhaven district in Parliament. That gentleman invited several gentlemen, interested in South Coast affairs, to meet and dine at the Oxford Hotel, and in the course of the evening, after a brief speech, which explained the reasons the people of Shoalhaven had for honouring Mr. Finlayson, made the presentation. The receipt of the gift was suitably acknowledged, and several toasts and pleasing speeches followed. Dr. Tarrant, Mr. S. W. Gray, M.L.A., and Mr. D. L. Dymock, were among the guests.

A revision court will be held at the Water Police Court at noon to-day for the purpose of revising the electoral lists of East Sydney and Paddington. A similar court will be held at Balmain at 2 o'clock. A court for revising the electoral list for St. Leonards will be held at St. Leonards at 2 o'clock to-morrow.

It is not easy (says the London Echo) to account for the indifference with which Englishmen in general, and the commercial world of England in particular, regard the construction of the Panama Canal. Fifteen hundred men are hard at work with spade and shovel labouring to join the waters of the Atlantic and Pacific, but all the English public know about it is gleaned from meagre paragraphs about once a month. As a matter of fact, the canal will effect a revolution in the trade of the Pacific ports and of Queensland. The vessel taking cargo at San Francisco for Liverpool has to steam round Cape Horn, a distance of 13,710 miles; but when the isthmus is cut the distance will be 7709 miles, a clear saving of 6000 miles in distance and many weeks in time. From Valparaiso to Liverpool round Cape Horn is 10,167 miles. By the Panama Canal it will be 7349: and the saving of distance from Chilian and Peruvian ports to the northward would, of course, be proportionately greater. The importance of these figures will be understood when it is remembered that more than half the shipments from Pacific ports go to British ports. The effect on trade with New Zealand will also be considerable. From Auckland to Liverpool by Suez is 12,706 miles, and round Cape Horn 12,057 miles, By Panama it will be 11,549 miles. Shortly stated, the Panama Canal will be the high road for British commerce with our North-West American dependencies; with the Pacific ports of the States, through which we draw so largely on their agricultural produce; with Central America, whose rapidly-developing production of coffee, sugar, and indigo is largely controlled by England; with Ecuador, Peru, Bolivia, and Chili—countries that are waiting to pour their mineral richness into Europe; and with New Zealand and other of our Australian colonies. These facts should help our readers to a more accurate idea of the commercial importance of this great engineering work.

The cholera germ theory (observes the Pall Mall Gazette), if we may trust the announcement of the Calcutta Englishman reported in this morning's Times, has already passed the stage of verification, and will soon march out of the ranks of hypothesis into the superior grade of ascertained law. The researches of the German Commission were satisfactory so far as they went, but they could not claim to be conclusive until some animal had been inoculated with the bacillus, and cholera had resulted. This is the experiment which has now been successfully performed by Dr. Vincent Richards, civil surgeon of Goalundo, who after many trials has communicated cholera to a pig. From very old times, however, men have been able by their enchantments to call up the plague, and what everyone will be most interested in is to see whether these latest researches will lead to the discovery of an antidote.

A few months since (writes the Albury Banner) the farmers all over New South Wales and Victoria were complaining bitterly of the scarcity of labour. Since the date of the harvest the disastrous results of a protracted drought have temporarily depressed the great pastoral industry, and the graziers, in view of serious impending losses, have not seen their way to the outlay of money on improvements. Further than this, all industries have been more or less affected by the depression in the chief of colonial interests, and the flow of money has thus been checked in innumerable channels. This condition of things, however, like the cause which brought it about, is only temporary. Before long the reaction must come, and then the want of population, which in a new country is always the most pressing need, will again be realised as forcibly as ever.

On the new "Stabat Mater" of Devorak, the Saturday Review of March 22 says:—"The music is subdued in tone as a rule, though there are not wanting at times passages of great vigour, which show that this is only the result of wisely-husbanded power, which is eventually allowed to assert itself as it culminates in a magnificent 'Amen' in eight parts. Jacopone's Hymn is divided by the composer into 10 parts, each serving as a separate number. The composer has treated his subject in the only way in which it could be treated—namely, as a hymn in use in Roman Catholic churches; and he follows rightly, as we think, the example set by so many before him of dividing the work into numbers. It seems almost impossible nowadays for a composer of any merit to come amongst us without some reference being made to the influence or non-influence of Wagner upon his method; and Herr Devorak has had his share of influence-gauging at the hands of most of our contemporaries. We find that as regards the two schools—the 'absolute,' as represented by Beethoven, Schumann, and Brahms, and the 'poetic,' as represented by Wagner alone—Herr Devorak is dubbed an absolutist, so that in his case Wagner's influence is small. Herr Devorak is of the absolute school, and he divides his work into numbers, and has also dared to evade the rules of prosody. This work shows a grandeur of design, and an earnestness of purpose, together with a marvellous flow of melody, consummate contrapuntal skill, and mastery of the resources of orchestration—in fact, it has quite reached that standard which entitles it to be called a work of the first rank, a production of genius."

The Cootamundra Herald directs attention to a statement that, on a voter coming to a presiding officer and requiring assistance in recording his vote because he was unable to read, the presiding officer went into the polling-place alone with the voter and scored out the name. If this was the case it was done in contravention of the 34th clause of the Electoral Act, which distinctly says that this assistance shall be given "in the presence of the scrutineers, if any." And in reference to another complaint—that a certain person, without any authority, intruded into the polling-booth at Muttama, the person in question was guilty of a misdemeanour, under the 32nd clause of the Electoral Act.

The bill prepared by some of the adherents of the Scots Church, Melbourne, for introduction to Parliament has (remarks the Victorian Independent) been advertised in the public press. We should be honestly glad to see the rigidity of some standards of doctrine healthily softened, and the limits of thought in the Presbyterian Church widened in non-essential points. We cannot, of course, be sorry to see the value of Congregational principles receiving increasing recognition. But the morale of the bill is curious. If anything like it should pass into law, any denomination which might cast longing eyes upon Dr. Moorhouse's cathedral, when it is finished, could send a strong detachment, and presently secede from the Episcopal Church, taking the cathedral with them. The principle is otherwise applicable, also, in like fashion.

The South Australian Register observes:—"The discovery of rocks of undoubted carboniferous age in Western Australia is an event worthy of note. In a recent number of the Geological Society's Quarterly Journal, Mr. W. H. Hudleston describes and figures a number of fossils forwarded to England by Mr. Forrest, the Surveyor for Western Australia. The specimens were gathered by this latter gentleman from the regions adjacent to and north of the Gascoyne River, a district which has been but little explored up to the present. The stratigraphical features of this district have been but very imperfectly observed, and the determinations in question had to be made almost entirely on the palæontological data. Mr. Hudleston supplies a list of over 20 fossil species, including Amplexus, Zaphrentis, and Stenopora, among the corals; two species of Encriniter; four species of Polyzoa, including Fenestella and Evaclinopora; among the Mollusca are Athyris, Spirifera, Productus, Orthis, and Aviculopecten. Three of the corals are described as new. With one doubtful specimen, which has a Devonian look about it, all the species are characteristic of the carboniferous formation. The coal-bearing strata south of the Gascoyne River are supposed to be of Mesozoic age. No coal-beds have been reported in connection with these carboniferous rocks in the Far North, but the fossiliferous beds have been traced in an almost continuous outcrop for nearly 150 miles, trending N.N.W. The West Australian Government have sent a competent geologist to study this region."

The Fisheries Act Amendment Bill, which was introduced to the Legislative Assembly on last Wednesday by the Colonial Secretary, is published in another portion of to-day's Herald.

The subject of Mr. R. T. Booth's address at the Exhibition Building this evening will be "Personal Responsibility." The Most Rev. the Primate will preside.

A series of lectures, entitled "Word Pictures of Prison Life," is to be delivered by Dr. W. Rodway, the first being given to-night in the new Masonic Hall.

Rumours of an extraordinary rich find of gold at Hall's lead, near Forbes, have been current during the past few days, but they are totally without foundation, as no better prospect than from 4 to 5 grains of gold to the dish have yet been got at that locality. AMUSEMENTS.

"The Silver King" will only be repeated at the Theatre Royal to-night and to-morrow night, Miss Annie Mayor having recovered from the ill-effects of her recent accident sufficiently to be able to appear on Wednesday evening. Stephenson's very successful play, "Impulse," will then be produced for the first time here, and the cast will be a very strong one.

"Eastward Ho" drew a large audience at the Opera House on Saturday night, and is likely to run for some time.

It is hard to understand why that delightful drama "The Squire," so well acted at the Gaiety Theatre by Mr. Reeve and his company, has not drawn crowded houses since its production here, but the fact remains that it has not done so, and therefore it will be withdrawn on Saturday night in favour of "The Woman in White," which has always been a great success here. In the meantime, "The Squire" is followed nightly by a new farce, called "Obliging a Friend." It is cleverly written and genuinely funny, and Miss Bessie Palmer, Miss Ethel Adele, Mr. D'Arcy Stanfield, and Mr. Sam Poole act it with such spirit and keen appreciation of its humour, that it goes to a continuous accompaniment of laughter from the audience.

A new programme was produced at the Academy of Music on Saturday night, by Hiscocks' Federal Minstrels. The place was crowded, and the entertainment went without a hitch, and was heartily applauded. Mr. W. Horace Bent sang "Naughtily Naughty," a new comic song by Mr. Leopold Jordan, and the audience approved of it so much that they insisted upon an encore. Messrs. Braham and Amery sang well, and Mr. Beaumont Read's tuneful alto was never in better trim. The Girards' kicked and danced, and doubled themselves up in all sorts of extraordinary ways; a new comic sketch by Mr. Bent, "Art Students," evoked shouts of laughter; and the performance concluded with an absurd farce called "Hanlan en route," which is ridiculously funny. This programme will be repeated nightly during the week.

The Kennedys will afford patrons of the Protestant Hall this evening "Anther nicht wi' Burns," and during the entertainment Mr. Kennedy will recite "Tam o' Shanter." To-morrow night the season will close, and the Kennedy family will give their last performance in Sydney.

PUBLIC PARK FOR PETERSHAM.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—With reference to a paragraph in your issue of to-day respecting the above park, I believe every person in the borough is of opinion that Johnston's Estate would be the best site, if obtainable; but in the event of that not being secured, I consider the ratepayers have a perfect right to select other sites; and as your correspondent has been kind enough to refer in derogatory terms to a piece of land which the attention of the council was drawn to at their last meeting by a petition, signed by 158 ratepayers, and which I, in my capacity as alderman, had the honour of presenting, I beg to inform you that the land in question could easily be converted into a most eligible ground, and so far as the locality is concerned, if your correspondent will give me a call any afternoon, I will convince him that a large number of the petitioners have properties equal or superior to his within a stone's throw of the ground.

As to its being obtained by a side-wind, the petition was publicly presented; hence the assertion is uncalled for.

I am, &c., W. J. DAVIS.

Mr. W. B. Christie addressed the electors of Northumberland last night, from the balcony of the Criterion Hotel, Newcastle. Mr. Gorrick, M.L.A., occupied the chair, and Mr. Percy Hodgkinson, of the Democratic Alliance, supported the candidate on behalf of that body. Mr. Christie's principal arguments were against the proposed new Land Bill and immigration, and he also denounced the present Government strongly. Everything passed off very quietly. The motion of Mr. Thomas Smith, of Lambton, seconded by Mr. J. Buxton, that Mr. Christie was well qualified to represent Northumberland, was received by a large majority. Shortly before 10 o'clock the proceedings closed with the usual votes of thanks to the chairman.

This afternoon, James Sturt, a seaman on board of the Government dredge Titan, at Port Stephens, was brought into the hospital suffering from the effects of gun-shot wounds accidentally inflicted by a boy on board yesterday. PORT MACQUARIE, Saturday.

The grass is springing splendidly all over the district, and if the frost keeps of for a time there will be any amount of pasturage for the winter. The cattle, which were in poor condition owing to the prolonged drought, are being scoured through eating the young grass, and some have died; but the loss is nothing serious. Floods are reported in the tributary streams to the Hastings, and the roads are very bad, rendering travelling difficult and disagreeable.

Senior-constable Salter has been making inquiries relative to finding work for the unemployed from Sydney, and he finds that there is no chance here at present, as at this time of the year but little labour is required. It has been suggested that the Government should take advantage of the state of the labour market to make some much-needed roads and to repair some of the roads and streets, which sadly require looking after.

The newly-formed Agricultural and Horticultural Society has accepted tenders for fencing in the show-ground in a substantial manner.

On Thursday afternoon (says the Clarence Examiner) a blacksmith named Lewis, engaged on the dredge at present working near Lawrence, made an attempt to commit suicide by cutting his throat. The unfortunate man was conveyed by the steamer Little Nell to Grafton, and from thence to the hospital, where the wound, which was a very ugly gash, was stitched up. Lewis had been in a desponding state for a short time, and while in this state he committed the rash act.

A singular and serious accident is reported (in the Cowra Free Press) to have happened to a Mr. Robert Grant, of Back Creek, on Monday last. He was engaged at his saw-mill cutting some timber, when a loose splinter came in contact with the circular saw and was hurled with terrific force in his face. Mr. Grant's nose was literally smashed to a pulp, and his left upper jaw bone, cheek bone, and palate bone broken and driven back—in fact his face altogether so was disfigured as to baffle recognition.

LAND AND LABOUR.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—Your correspondent, "Land Owner," in the Herald of this day, has unwittingly espoused the programme of the Protection and Political Reform League in its land law proposals, and I am glad to have "Land Owner" with us in our opinions. "Land Owner" starts with the foundation of our argument, "To whom does the land belong?" Of course manhood suffrage answers at once, "The people." Then "Land Owner" starts off with the enunciation of the doctrine which has ever been expressed from our platform, "All town lots lease for 99 years, suburban lots lease again, country lots lease for 25 years, grazing farms lease for 14 years." (The words "by auction" I have omitted, as this mode may or may not be adopted, as it may suit the direction of the various local land boards.) But with this exception, the members of the League of which I have performed the duties of secretary, have ever in their public speeches and writings pleaded for this policy in dealing with our lands. This letter of "Land Owner" is especially in the nick of time just now that the Land Bill is under consideration. With other views of "Land Owner," there must this exception be taken, and that is, we must be very cautious how we admit the principle that, having parted with much of our freehold, it has been parted with "according to law." I would point to the millions of acres which have been obtained by plunder—dummying as one mode, and land speculators in power making rules and regulations of their own. Nicknaming such tricks "laws," shall never persuade me to believe that we have parted with such freeholds, and I will teach the people contrary to this view. Moreover, I caution all dealers in land to look well back into the titles, for a time must come that the dummied land must be surrendered. I am, &c., R. C. LUSCOMBE.

SOUTH AUSTRALIAN JOCKEY CLUB AUTUMN MEETING.

ADELAIDE, SATURDAY.

The Autumn Meeting of the South Australian Jockey Club commenced to-day. The weather during the day was dull and cloudy, and showers fell at intervals, which accounted for the small attendance. Only a couple of thousand persons were present during the early part of the day, but later on the attendance increased considerably. His Excellency the Governor and Lady Robinson and suite were present. The Hurdle Race was an easy win for The Agent by four lengths, whilst Euchre had the misfortune to fall heavily and break one of his legs, and had to be shot. The South Australian Stakes fell to Gratitude, ably piloted by Hales, and the Leger was won by Hurricane. A large field started for the Goodwood Handicap, and, after a splendid race, Williamson landed Ironmaster a winner in fine style. The Selling Race fell to the lot of Lawn, after a well-contested race with Childe Harold.

At the betting rooms on Saturday evening Conjecture was backed at four to one for the Cup, and there was an offer to take 3000 to 1000 in one bet; but the bookmakers would not lay the wager, and the commissioner refused to take a smaller amount at the price. The mare galloped yesterday afternoon while the races were on, and it is generally understood that she has had a gallop with Malua on Sir Thomas Elder's private track. Sting seems pretty firm at 6 to 1, and 7 to 1 is the best offer against Malua, whose party have backed him heavily in the doubles with Ironmaster.

The following are the results of the racing:—

HURDLE RACE.

The Agent	1
Ned Kelly	2
Fictitious	3

Seven started.

Betting: Even on Fictitious, 2 to 1 v. The Agent, 4 to 1 v. Euchre.

Euchre led to the first hurdle, Sir Joseph, The Agent, and Fictitious being together three lengths away. At the half-mile post Fictitious joined Sir Joseph, while The Agent dropped back a few lengths. At the stand, Fictitious and Sir Joseph were on equal terms, but here Euchre fell heavily. The lot kept together until approaching home, when The Agent and Fictitious drew away together. Agent then drew away, and won by four lengths, Ned Kelly second, and Fictitious third. Mesalliance was last. Time, 5 minutes 4 seconds.

Euchre broke his leg, and had to be shot.

SOUTH AUSTRALIAN STAKES.

Gratitude	1
Ravine	2
Lavington	3

Betting: 6 to 4 v. Gratitude.

Lavington got all the benefit of the start, and made the running, attended by King of the Gipsies and Ravine, with Gratitude lying last. Lavington led into the straight from Ravine and King of the Gipsies; but at the distance Hales, on Gratitude, shot out from the centre and won easily by a length from Ravine. Time, 1 minute 32¼ seconds.

ST. LEGER.

Hurricane	1
Killarney	2

These were the only starters, and Hurricane won just as he pleased. Time, 3 minutes 24¾ seconds.

GOODWOOD HANDICAP.

Ironmaster, 6st. 12lb. (Williamson)	1
Bassanio, 7st. 10lb. (Cope)	2
Country Boy, 6st. 5lb. (Flannagan)	3

The other starters were—Countryman, Irishman, King of the Vale, Baron Von Mueller, Creswick, Shylock, Ironhand, Dutchman, Lord Wilton, Ruby, and Madge.

Betting: 5 to 1 each against Ironmaster and Lord Wilton, 6 to 1 against Irishman, 8 to 1 each against Creswick and Madge, 10 to 1 each against Country Boy, Ironhand, and Countryman.

After a little fiddling at the post Dutchman, Royal Irishman, Ruby, and Bassanio were off first, and then came Shylock and Creswick, while the last lot were the Baron, Lord Milton, Ironhand, and King of the Vale. At the six-furlong post Dutchman was leading by a length from Royal Irishman, after whom came Shylock, Bassanio, Ruby, and Ironmaster, Creswick leading the next lot. At the dovecot Irishman on the outside joined Dutchman, Bassanio and Ironmaster being close up, while following them were Shylock, Ruby, Country Boy, Madge, Creswick, and the Baron. At the Leger post Ironmaster was leading by two lengths from Royal Irishman, while next were Bassanio, Dutchman, Ruby, Country Boy, Ironhand, and Creswick. Ironmaster still held the lead on rounding the turn, followed by Irishman and Creswick on the inside, Bassanio on the outside, with Ironhand keeping them company. At the distance, Ironmaster came away easily from Bassanio and Country Boy, who were followed by Creswick, Ruby, and Ironhand, and won easily by two lengths away from Bassanio, with Country Boy, a neck behind, third; Creswick, King of the Vale, and Ruby very close together, the next last two being Dutchman and Shylock, both of whom were some distance off. Time, 1 minute 43 seconds.

SELLING RACE.

Lawn	1
Victoria	2
Childe Harold	3

A bad start was effected. Childe Harold jumped off first, but was immediately collared by Lawn. Childe Harold came again at the turn, but Lawn wore her down, and won easily. Time, 1 minute 47¾ seconds.

MELBOURNE, SUNDAY.

Through the victory of Ironmaster in the Goodwood Handicap, some nice stakes have been won in Melbourne. After the excitement of the news had subsided, the Adelaide Cup was entered into with some spirit at the Victorian Club on Saturday evening. The first move was the advance of Malua, about whom 5 to 1 was at last the best offer. Conjecture was 6 to 1, and it was with difficulty that 7 to 1 could be secured about Sting, whilst 8 to 1 could always be had against King of the Vale. Fryingpan was very quiet at 10 to 1 offered, and Claptrap was friendless at 12 to 1.

NEWCASTLE QUEEN'S BIRTHDAY RACE MEETING.

NEWCASTLE, SATURDAY.

The Newcastle Races to be held on the 24th instant comprise the following events:—The Shorts Handicap of one sovereign each for starters, with 30 sovereigns added, seven furlongs; Prince of Wales' Stakes of 10s. each for starters, with 10 sovereigns added, three-quarter mile; Hack Race of 10s. each for starters, with ten sovereigns added for all bona fide hacks to be handicapped and approved of by the stewards, three-quarter mile; The Birthday Gift, a handicap of one sovereign each for starters, with 40 sovereigns added, one-and-a-quarter mile; The Consolation Stakes, a handicap of 10 sovereigns for all beaten horses, one-and-a-half mile. The entries will close on Thursday next.

FOOTBALL.

MELBOURNE, SUNDAY.

Among the football matches on Saturday, the two most important of the seniors' contests were those of Melbourne v. Carlton and South Melbourne v. Fitzroy. In the former, which was witnessed by a large attendance on the Melbourne Cricket Ground, the match was won by Melbourne, 3 goals and 8 behinds to 2 goals and 10 behinds. The latter contest was all the more interesting, because of the fact that Fitzroy is a new senior team, and it resulted in a victory for South Melbourne by 2 goals and 10 behinds to Fitzroy's 1 goal and 11 behinds. The two other senior matches were Essendon v. South Yarra and Williamstown v. Hotham. The first-named resulted in an easy win for Essendon, and the second ended in a draw. The season of football is now fairly opened.

WELLINGTON (N.Z.), SUNDAY.

The following players form the football team to leave for Sydney on the 22nd instant from Otago by the steamer Tairoa:—Robertson, James, Allan, O'Donnell, Braddon (Canterbury), D'Auvergne, W. K. Milton, Hilmore, Humerton, E. Milton (Auckland), Webster, Ryan, Warbrick, O'Connor, Clayton (Wellington), Campbell, Roberts, Udy, Davy, and Drimball.

SUBURBAN BICYCLE CLUB SPORTS.

The second amateur race meeting of the above club was held on the Association Cricket Ground, on Saturday afternoon. The weather was delightful, the favourable nature of the elements, no doubt, greatly assisting to draw the large and fashionable attendance which thronged the ground, grand-stand, and pavilion enclosure. Among the occupants of the stand was a large number of ladies, many of whom at intervals left their seats and promenaded on the grassy stretch of lawn below. The enjoyment of those in this portion of the ground was materially enhanced by a choice selection of music, excellently played by the band of the Naval Brigade. The only drawback to the meeting was the heavy condition of the ground for riding, many of the races in consequence not being as closely contested as they would otherwise have been. The fast riders were seriously handicapped, and only the "stickers" or well-conditioned cyclists were to the front. Though there were one or two close finishes, the races generally were unexciting. Perhaps the best contested event of the day was the final heat for the Open Mile Handicap, where Ferguson just beat Hunt after a desperate struggle for over 120 yards. The feature of the day, however, was the artistic riding of C. R. Wood, who appropriated both the Two Miles Championship and the Two Mile Open Handicap. He had both speed and staying power added to judgment, and an easy style of riding. It is thought if he had not been "grassed" through a collision he would also have won the Mile Maiden Handicap. A. Lee literally romped away from his opponents in the One Mile Tricycle Handicap, though placed at scratch, proving that he is as much at home on a "trike" as on a "bike." Two novel and interesting events on the card were the Serpentine Race and the Medley Race, the spectacle of the contestants in the latter competition carrying their steeds aloft while running the last quarter of a lap creating considerable amusement. Most imposing was the grand parade of bicycles and tricycles, the manœuvring of over 120 machines being so quick and uniform as to elicit repeated applause from the spectators. In the evolutions, and for smartness of appearance, the palm must be awarded to the members of the suburban club, who mustered in force. The programme was carried out with praiseworthy punctuality, the various officials getting through their duties satisfactorily. The committee are well pleased at the financial outcome of the meeting. Appended are the details of the various events:—

Maiden Handicap, one mile; open to members only. Two prizes.—G. Attwood, 40 yards, 1; F. S. Passau, 80 yards, 2; J. Harpur, 140 yards, 3; H. Lamb, 50 yards; C. R. Wood, scratch; T. Barnett, 15 yards; T. W. Douglas, 15 yards; H. J. Atkins, 50 yards; G. A. Wood, 70 yards. Attwood kept a good position throughout, and about 200 yards from the winning-post put on a spurt and won easily. C. R. Wood, the favourite, fell early in the race. Time, 3 minutes 44¼ seconds.

One Mile Tricycle Handicap; open. Two prizes.—A. Lee, Wanderers B. C., scratch, 1; G. George, Sydney B. C., 90 yards, 2; N. Bladon, W. B. C., 80 yards, 3; A. H. Blackstone, 60 yards; A. Edwards, 75 yards. A. Lee, the erstwhile champion bicyclist, went away at a tremendous rate, and had his opponents fairly settled after the first lap. Lee kept in the third place till the end of the third lap, when he passed the leaders as if they had been standing still, and won with ridiculous ease. Time, 4 minutes 27½ seconds.

Five Mile Club Championship.—C. R. Wood, 1; W. Hamilton, 2; C. Maddock, 3; Remshard, G. Attwood, E. Timewell, and J. Way. Lamb, who went off with a strong lead, lost whatever chance he may have had by his pedal becoming disarranged. The pace was very slow, the riders all reserving their efforts for the last lap or so. At the beginning of the last mile Maddock went to the front, and improved the pace, with Remshard second, and Wood third. In the last half-mile Wood ran into second place, where he remained till about 120 yards from home, when he put on all steam, and won easily by about 10 yards. Time, 20 minutes 27 seconds.

One Mile Open Handicap.—First Heat: R. S. Lambton, Burwood B.C., 120 yards, 1; G. A. Wood, Suburban B.C., 140 yards, 2; E. C. Wood, scratch; G. Thurlow, 20 yards; G. Leeder, 120 yards; J. T. Rugg, 100 yards; F. Walker, 115 yards; G. Corkhill, 130 yards; H. Shelley, 130 yards; H. Lamb, 145 yards; C. Lane, 150 yards. Won by a foot. Time, 3 minutes 33 seconds. Second Heat: J. M. Ferguson, Sydney B.C., 90 yards, 1; A. A. Hunt, Wanderers' B C., 60 yards, 2; N. B. Hill, 110 yards; J. P. Robertson, 125 yards; H. Henry, 130 yards; W. Buckingham, 105 yards; F. Rogers, 180 yards. Ferguson won easily. Time, 3 minutes 37½ seconds. Final Heat: Ferguson, 90 yards, 1; Hunt, 60 yards, 2; Thurlow, 20 yards, 3; Lambton, 120 yards; G. A. Wood, 140 yards; Robertson, 125 yards. Hunt, after temporarily falling back after the start, took the lead, and remained in a commanding position till about 200 yards from the winning post, when Ferguson challenged him. It was a regular ding dong struggle, but Ferguson lasting longer won a good race. Time, 3 minutes 25 seconds.

300 Yards Handicap Flat Race, Two prizes.—A. G. Day, P.A.A.C., 10 yards, 1; F. Peers, Balmain, 20 yards, 2; C. E. Purser, University, 12 yards, 3. P. James, scratch; F. W. Baylis, C. J. Patison, 6 yards; A. Henry, 10 yards; W. B. Flannery, 10 yards; D. Beesling, 12 yards; J. M. Hart, 12 yards; C. F. Hillyar, 16 yards; P. C. Fairland (disqualified). It was a good race between the first three, Day winning by a foot; the same distance dividing second and third. The two scratch men were handicapped out of the race. Time, 33½ seconds.

Half a Mile Serpentine Race.—C. Maddock, 1; R. S. Lambton, 2; A. Edwards, H. Moyse, H. Shelley. Moyse when leading, and looking all over a winner in making a sharp turn round one of the hurdles came to grief, and Shelley and Edwards colliding, C. Maddock went on, and won easily from Lambton. This event caused much amusement among the spectators, but did not last long enough.

150 Yards Flat Race.—This was a match between P. C. Fairland and E. A. Grainger. It was a most hollow affair, as, the pistol being fired when Fairland was not ready, Grainger went on and won easily.

Handicap Mile for riders without using handles.—This race was won easily by A. Edwards, of the Sydney Club, who was much too powerful for his three opponents, viz., McDonald, Timewell, and Lambton.

Two Miles Open Handicap.—C. R. Wood, W.B.C., 110 yards, 1; J. Young, Suburban B.C., 225 yards, 2; J. Thurlow, Redfern, scratch, 3; E. C. Wood, scratch; J. M. Ferguson, 90 yards; E. H. M'Crae, 115 yards; F. Peers, 130 yards; J. Rugg, 130 yards; T. Barnett, 140 yards; T. Field, 150 yards; F. Walker, 150 yards; J. Remshard, 200 yards. C. R. Wood rode with great judgment, and keeping a good position throughout, and had enough left in him at the critical moment to dispose of J. Young, who was beaten by about five yards after a gallant struggle. Ferguson fell during the race, and spoilt his chance. Time, 7 minutes 17 seconds.

Medley Race, run with a bicycle ½ of a lap, ride 1 lap, and carry bicycle ½ of a lap.—R. Shute, Sub. B. C., 1; A. Edwards, S. B. C., 2; H. J. Atkins, G. George. Shute showed great speed in running with his bicycle, which he mounted quite 30 yards ahead of his fellow contestants. George and Atkins both fell in trying to mount their machines, and Shute had next door to a walk-over. The men carrying their machines aloft for a quarter of a lap was an interesting and amusing spectacle. Shute bore his steed manfully, but several of the others tottered under the superincumbent weight.

One Mile Double Tricycle Handicap (open).—C. E. Jones and F. Prior, 80 yards, Sydney T. C., 1; W. Hamilton and H. Moyse, scratch, Sydney T. C., 2; T. W. Mulholland and I. B. Wellings, 80 yards, 0. On the first lap, Moyse and Hamilton gained considerably on the winners, and it looked as if they would overtake them; but, though they rode pluckily, they never got nearer than the 20 yards which separated them from the leaders when the winning-post was passed. Mulholland and Wellings retired early in the contest. Time, 4 minutes 26¼ seconds.

ATHLETICS.

The final races to determine the winner for the Sheffield Handicap took place at the Sir Joseph Banks recreation ground on Saturday afternoon. Over 2000 visitors assembled on the ground to witness the sports, and the proceedings, although very exciting, passed off without the slightest contretemps. The run-off for places resulted in the following order—Bligh, Wood, Collins, and Flaherty. Malone, the sprinter, from whom so much was expected, failed to secure a place, being rather too heavily handicapped. Mr. Sam Welsh filled the onerous duties of starter very satisfactorily. The Young Australian Band performed during the afternoon in the spacious pavilion, and many availed themselves of the opportunity for a dance thus afforded. The arrangements of the ground were excellent, the tracks worked well, and the time therefore was very good.

ASHFIELD AMATEUR ATHLETIC CLUB.

The fourth annual meeting of the Ashfield Amateur Athletic Club was held at the local cricket reserve on Saturday afternoon, and the sports attracted a good many people to the ground. There were no less than 19 events on the programme, and in each a fair number of competitors came forward. Amongst the principal contests were—Scratch Race of 100 yards, which was won by J. H. Atkinson, D. Taylor coming in second. Time, 10 4-5th seconds. Half-mile Walking Match: R. Barbour, 1; S. W. Devlin, 2. Time, 4 minutes 10 seconds. Maiden Race of 150 yards: E. Taylor, 1; A. E. Maudaudy, 2. Time, 16 4-5th seconds. Half-mile Handicap: J. H. Andreson, scratch, 1; P. Higgs, 10 yards, 2; D. L. Aitken, 30 yards, 3. Handicap Race of 150 yards, for boys under 17: J. Dunn, scratch, 1; G. Terry, 6 yards, 2. Time, 20 seconds. Challenge Cup Race of 440 yards, to be won twice: W. Devlin, 1; J. H. Atkinson, 2. Time, 60 1-5th seconds. One-mile Handicap Walking Match: R. Barbour, 1; T. Larnach, 200 yards, 2. Time, 8 minutes 18 seconds. All Schools' Race of 440 yards: W. Thompson, 1; H. Hilliard, 2; E. Henry, 3. Strangers' Handicap Race of 300 yards: E. G. Allen, 12 yards, 1; F. Daly, 3 yards, 2; D. P. Viles, 8 yards, 3.

CRICKET.

STEDMAN IMPERIAL CUP.—The match between the Carthonas and Orientals was further resumed on Saturday afternoon last, on the cup wickets, Moore Park, fully 4000 persons being present, who manifested the greatest possible interest in the game. The club colours, black and gold, worn by several young ladies, showed that the Orientals had some fair admirers, carrying one back to the Eton and Harrow matches, and an example which might be followed without infringing upon good taste. The two not-outs, Donnan and Edgar Ironside, the score standing at 169, were not parted until 212 had been posted, the latter, after playing in his usual free style for 34, being caught, getting in one over off Cleeve 12 runs, a 6, 4, and 2. 24 runs being added brought the close of the innings up to 236, just 101 runs ahead of their opponents on the first innings. Donnan, as on the previous Saturday, played a splendid game, his 113 and not out giving him a good mortgage on the Moore's trophy. As may be expected, he fell in for a good share of plaudits from the spectators and his opponents, and also numerous congratulations from his more immediate admirers. The whole of the Carthonas's bowling strength in this innings was brought into requisition. At the close of the afternoon's play (the Carthonas having gone in for their second innings) the score stood at 72 for two wickets, Baxter and Robinson being out for 19 and 10 respectively. Kelly, who is not out and 35, played well, and was apparently well set up to time being called. The Carthonas are still 29 behind, with two of their best wickets down, and have decidedly a big up-hill game before them. Probabilities point to another Saturday afternoon being required to finish this contest, which will bring the winner against the Osbornes on Queen's Birthday, starting at 1 o'clock, immediately after the review. Subjoined are the scores:—

ORIENTALS.—First innings.

Leland, c Robertson, b Cleeve	0	Kitchen, b Robertson	1
Elliott, c Robertson, b Baxter	18	Edgar Ironside, c Robertson, b M'Donald	34
M'Crae, l b w, b Cleeve	6	Dunn, b Cleeve	11

CARTHONAS.—Second innings.

BICYCLING.

Our Melbourne correspondent telegraphs that a combined bicycle meet, under the auspices of the Australian Cyclists' Union, took place on Saturday afternoon, when about 200 machines went round the Carlton Gardens three times, the first in single, the second in double file, and the third time four deep. Some thousands of people gathered at different points of the route.

COURSING.

The coursing meeting of the Hawkesbury Club, which was to have commenced on Saturday, will take place to-day and to-morrow on Mr. H. M'Quade's private coursing ground at Windsor. Intending visitors from Sydney are apprised that the first brace of dogs will not be placed in the slips until after the arrival of the 9 a.m. train from Sydney this morning.

AMATEUR SCULLING CONTEST.

A sculling race, to which considerable importance was attached in amateur boating circles, was rowed over the champion course on the Parramatta River on Saturday afternoon, between W. Brett, of Sydney, and S. Woods, the stroke of the well-known Footscray eight, for a trophy, valued at £50. The Sydney representative, it was anticipated, would have an easy win, and this was so far verified that during the latter part of the race he seemed to be under a little difficulty in accommodating his speed to meet that of his opponent. So slow was the pace that several amateur scullers, out for their spin, rowed easily with the contestants over the course. The steamer Admiral accompanied the race, which was started by mutual consent at 4.48 p.m. Woods at once obtained a slight lead, and this he increased to two lengths off Uhr's Point. Both men were pulling a stroke of between 34 and 35 to the minute, but Brett appeared to be saving himself. A slight spurt took place off Uhr's Point, but the relative positions of the boats was unchanged, about two lengths still separating them. Off Putney Brett drew up and easily assumed the lead. Wood made his final effort on passing Gladesville, and it was then apparent that he was done, as he narrowly escaped catching a crab, his boat lurching heavily. Brett now eased down allowing Woods to come up with him, and this continued to One Man's Wharf, where Woods fouled a sculling boat. The occupant of this boat must have seen that it was impossible for Woods to pull clear, and yet he made no effort to get out of the course. Even when the foul took place, instead of pulling ahead out of the way he allowed Woods to clear himself. Brett in the meantime had gained over 20 lengths, and he passed the flagboat a long way ahead. The race occupied 25 minutes 45 seconds.

SKIFF RACE.

A race was rowed in light skiffs on Saturday afternoon on the Parramatta River between Mathison and Nicolls. The steamer Prince of Wales accompanied the race. Mathison from the start took the lead, and won easily.

Our Bathurst correspondent telegraphs that the first football match of the season was played there on Saturday, when the match St. Stanislaus's College (past and present) against Bathurst was won by the former by one goal and two tries to two tries.

MR. FAWCETT ON THE CONDITION OF THE BLIND.

On March 19 at the Victoria Park Tabernacle Wetherell-road, South Hackney, Mr. Fawcett, M.P., presided at an entertainment given to about 150 of the blind poor of London. In the course of the evening the Rev. Dr. Sedlon (pastor of the tabernacle) introduced

Mr. Fawcett, who was loudly cheered on rising. The right hon. gentleman said: I can assure you it affords me sincere pleasure to be present this evening to share in the enjoyment which, through the kindness of friends, has been provided for the blind. Although, as I have said, it is a pleasure to me to be here, yet I can assure you there is no occasion on which I speak with so much difficulty as when I address a few remarks to the blind. This difficulty arises from the fact that if I say what I am most anxious to say I cannot do so without speaking too much about myself. If I fall into this fault you will believe me it is solely due to the fact that I am anxious from my own experience to tell those who are blind what they can do to derive the greatest amount of happiness and enjoyment from life. (Cheers.) We who are blind have many advantages. To no class who require friendly and generous aid is that aid more cheerfully and generously given. I am anxious to throw out a few suggestions with the object of showing you how this aid may be turned to the best account. Every day I live the truth is more and more impressed upon me that the greatest service that can be rendered to the blind is to elevate them from the miserable depression of dependence, to inspire them with a buoyant feeling of self-reliance, and in a word as far as possible to make them live the same life as others are living. (Cheers.) You may ask, "How can this be done?" Well, no one who does not know it from experience can tell the wonderful compensatory forces of nature. I would be the last to underrate the pleasures of seeing the beauty of colour and the beauty of form. We cannot see the landscape lit up by bright sunshine or silvered over by the moonlight calm, but so inestimable are these compensatory forces of nature that by a subtle process, which I will not attempt to explain, we can derive pleasure from scenes we have never seen. When I am walking or riding I feel it a distinct loss if a beautiful scene is not explained to me, and I have made these remarks because I wish to tell the companions of the blind that the greatest act of kindness they can show them is to treat them exactly as if they could see. (Hear, hear.) If they are walking, speak about the persons they pass, the buildings, and the landscapes, and the impression produced will add infinitely to the enjoyment and brightening of life. A great poet has said, "There is a bosom morrow in the midnight; there is ripple sight in blindness." This simple sight may lie dormant if it is unaided, but if stimulated by genial sympathy innumerable sources may be opened up to add to the happiness and brightness of our lives. Statistics show that in this country there is about one blind person to every 1000 inhabitants. Care should be taken in drawing the distinction between those who are blind from childhood and those who become blind in after life. To blind children the greatest service that can be rendered is so to educate and train them as to place them in a position to earn their own living. (Cheers.) Amongst other institutions which steadily keep this wholesome principle in view I could specially refer to the Normal College for the Blind, at Norwood, presided over by my friend Dr. Campbell, who seems to possess a genius for perfecting methods for the education of the blind. In that college I believe that no less than 80 per cent. of all who were educated there now earn their own living. With regard to the adults, or those who become blind after they have passed the years of childhood, I think it cannot be doubted that as life passes the fingers lose that marvellous dexterity of touch which so greatly distinguishes the young blind, and consequently a different method of assistance is required for these. In my opinion what the adult blind above all things require is as far as possible to share the joys and countless pleasures of home life. (Hear, hear.) Don't confine them within the walls of institutions, don't congregate them together, but let them share the same hopes and joys with those who can see. And now I think as a practical suggestion that I believe the agencies which exist throughout the country intended to promote the welfare of the blind in different directions might very properly be turned to greater account and be more fruitful of good if, in some instances at least, an improved system of organisation were introduced, and it in some cases they were better administered. I believe instances might be quoted in which the funds which are available might be turned to greater advantage, and therefore I would suggest, and I hope it is a suggestion which will receive careful public consideration, that the whole of the institutions for the blind in the country should be carefully inquired into. (Cheers and "Hear, hear.") What form that inquiry should take may be left for subsequent consideration, but if it were decided to appoint a commission to investigate the various agencies now in operation and the various societies now existing, I believe valuable information would be obtained; and I think it would also be shown that in some respects at least we have, with regard to the education and assistance of the blind, something yet to learn from other countries, especially from the United States and Saxony. With regard to this commission, I will only say this much, that if it should be decided to appoint it I believe so ready is the sympathy extended to the blind that there would be no difficulty in finding those to serve upon it who, by their ability and zeal, would deserve and secure public confidence. In conclusion, in order to show what may be done by greater organisation, let me indicate what, for instance, would be the position of the blind in an ordinary provincial town, say of 40,000 inhabitants. Taking the figures which I have quoted last, such a town would have about 40 blind people. It may be fairly assumed that five of these would be in a position to provide any assistance they might require for themselves. Of the remaining 35 probably 20 would be children whose education would require some assistance and careful watching, and of the remaining 15, who represent the adult blind, does any one pretend to say that in a town of 40,000 inhabitants there would not be enough ready sympathy and willing aid forthcoming which, if properly directed, would provide them with all the assistance they would require? It is not simply money that is required, although that is in many instances essential; but this I would say to those who have leisure, if they would give some of that leisure regularly to read to the blind or walk with them and cheer them by their companionship, they may rest assured that no kindly effort they could ever make would yield them a richer harvest of results than thus helping to brighten the lives of those whom I know they are so anxious to aid. (Loud cheers.)

BOROUGH COUNCIL.

RANDWICK.—Meeting held on 29th ultimo. Present—The Mayor and Aldermen Wall, Moore, See, Napper, Denning, Lowe, and Wilson. Minutes of last meeting read and confirmed. Accounts were passed, and ordered to be paid, amounting to £443 11s. 7d. Correspondence read: From Mr. Woolcock and Mr. Semple, complaining of the drainage of Avoca-street, near the Carlton Estate. The overseer reported that nothing further could be done in this matter at present. From Mr. H. G. Swyny, enclosing cheque for £145, being half cost of forming Bishop's Avenue. The council declined to undertake the work until the street be conveyed to them by deed of transfer. From the Department of Lands, stating that all the reserves applied for by the council would be dedicated for public recreation, excepting those fronting Power, Perouse, and Barker streets, and also that instructions had been given to have the same surveyed. From Mr. S. H. Pearce, resigning his position as alderman, on account of failing health. The resignation was accepted, and sympathy expressed for Mr. Pearce in his illness. On the motion of Alderman See, seconded by Alderman Moore, it was decided that a letter be forwarded to Mr. Pearce, expressing regret at his leaving the council and bearing testimony to his usefulness as an alderman during the past 25 years; from Mr. J. Dean, stating that he was not inconvenienced by the blacksmith's shop adjoining his house in the manner described to the council; from Messrs. Curtis and Barry, requesting that John-street be opened between Alison and Francis streets. The council determined to place a fence on the eastern side of the Recreation Reserve, and open John-street between that and the Cemetery. From the Department of Lands, stating that the land applied for as a public park would be dedicated for that purpose. From Mr. A. Cook, drawing the council's attention to the necessity of a waiting-room for tram passengers Moore Park. The council decided to apply to the Government to erect a shed there. Alderman Wilson moved,—"That by-law 38 be prescribed, and that the works committee consist the Mayor and an alderman from each ward." The motion was negatived. Two motions in Alderman Lowe's name on the business paper were carried—one proposing that tenders be called for emptying earth closets, and a second that Barker-street be re-formed from Jane to Avoca-street at a cost of £97.—W. BIGGINS, Council Clerk.

ADDITIONAL NEWS BY THE ENGLISH AND AMERICAN MAIL.

We continue our extracts from files of American papers to hand by the San Francisco Mail:—

EUROPEAN TELEGRAPHIC ITEMS.

Berlin, April 1.—The change now being made in the disposition of German troops show the Government of Germany intends to enlarge the frontier defences of the empire. Twenty-one battalions of infantry, six batteries of horse and two of foot artillery are passing through Berlin to replace the forces on the eastern frontier. The forces in Alsace will remain as at present constituted. It has been decided to make Ilsntaic the third great fortress on the second line of defence. Dockyards, arsenals, and a great fortified harbour will be reconstructed.

Constantinople, April 1.—A letter from Asia Minor states that authorised agents of the Turkish Government are attempting to close the Protestant schools conducted by American missionaries.

Pesth, April 3.—An Anarchist committee has sentenced to death the persons who gave the police information implicating Anarchists in the murder of Eisert, the Vienna banker.

Paris, April 4.—Three thousand miners, excited by the arrival of Rochefort, editor of the Paris Intransigeant, who came to Derain to lecture on the labour question, assembled in the streets of that place to-day, uttering seditious cries. The police were powerless, and troops were sent for.—Explorer Dupuis has returned from Tonquin. He denies that there are either English or American officers in the Chinese army. He says even General Gordon's Lieutenant, Mesgni, has abandoned the Chinese.

London, April 7.—It is announced that the British naval commanders have been ordered to oppose any attempt of the Portuguese to extend their occupation of Congo beyond Ambriez.

London, April 6.—There are reports of an agrarian rising at Oafa, Russia, and many conflicts, in which several gendarmes were killed or wounded.

Constantinople, April 6.—The United States, Russian, and German Governments have sent a fresh and energetic note to the Porte, protesting against the excessive dues charged for storing petroleum, and especially because depots have been introduced at Beyrout and other Syrian ports, where greater extortion is practised.

Berlin, April 6.—The Bundesrath unanimously rejected the proposal that a responsible Ministry be instituted for the Empire. A Bavarian delegate stated during the discussion that while Bavaria and her allies would be ready to cooperate actively to promote national development on a federal basis, she would firmly oppose any further advance in the direction of centralisation.

London, April 9.—It is reported that an attempt was made last night to destroy with dynamite the magazine of Fort George, a few miles from Inverness. The marauders escaped in boats, but not before the sentry bayonetted one of them.

Berlin, April 11.—The strike movement is spreading in Germany. Dresden advices announce the prevalence of serious strikes in Saxony among stone-cutters, masons, and glass-workers. All the workmen in the great glass factory of the Siemens, at Dresden are out. The carpenters also have ceased working. The Gazette declares that the majority of the strikers did not wish to strike, but were influenced by leaders, among whom two emissaries of Berlin working-men were prominent. A number of artisans consented to continue work on the Bourse at Leipsic, now in progress of construction, but it was necessary to provide an escort of police, as the strikers surrounded the building and threatened them with violence unless they desisted from labour.

THREATENED REVOLUTION IN MEXICO.

Galveston, April 12.—A News' Laredo special says:—For several days rumours have been rife of threatened revolution throughout Mexico, which are about assuming tangible shape. Among the causes of discontent are the following: The large moneyed concessions granted American railroads; the action of the Government on the nickel question, in ordering the base coin funded, and the repudiation of certificates of deposits or the return of nickels; the passage of the Stamp Act, requiring a twelve-cent. stamp on all articles offered for sale, notwithstanding the previous exorbitant custom-house tax; the failure to pay the soldiers of the regular army, resulting in the thorough demoralisation of the troops, and the throwing down their arms and deserting in squads because of starving in garrisons, together with charges of corruption openly brought against the President, now worth 4,000,000 dollars, though poor when he went into office four years ago. General Trevino, the idol of Northern Mexico, is awaited at Laredo to-night by a delegation of leading citizens of Monterey on his return from Europe, where he had gone, as the result of a political bargain made between him and President Diaz, the present candidate for the Presidency at the approaching June election. Much significance is placed on his premature return at this critical moment, as, while he will not countenance revolution, he is prepared to enter the field as a candidate for the Presidency.

INDEMNITY CLAIMS AGAINST HAYTI.

Havana, April 10.—Latest advices from Hayti state that on March 20, the Italian transport Compte de Cavour arrived at Port au Prince to seek satisfaction for taking from an Italian barque at Petit Goave two insurgents and shooting them. The American Minister has demanded of the Haytien Government the payment of 400,000 dollars indemnity for American losses on account of the riots of September last, and the surrender of the mole at Saint Nicholas, as a guarantee that the money will be paid. The German claims amount to 500,000 dollars, the French claims to an equal sum, and the English claims to 250,000 dollars. The number of persons killed during the revolution is officially declared to have been 7000. The disappearance of persons implicated in the revolution is causing considerable commotion. At Cape Hayti a collision occurred between refugees inside the British consulate and the guards around the consulate. Both parties were intoxicated, and the demolition of the consulate was only prevented by the timely arrival of the Consul. The Haytian Government has put into circulation the dreaded additional 100,000 dollars in paper money.

DISCONTENT IN NOVA SCOTIA.

Halifax, N.S., April 4.—The joint committee appointed by both branches of the local Legislature have reported an address for adoption and transmission to the Governor-General of Canada. The address sets forth that previous to the federation of the province, Nova Scotia was in a most healthy condition financially. Now, the reverse is the case, and the immediate adjustment of the financial terms of the union is urged. The feeling of discontent with regard to the finances is now more general and more deeply fixed than ever. It is maintained that Nova Scotia should be placed on an equal footing with the other provinces, and that as the taxation of the country has been increased since the union at least 50 per cent. the same rates should be added to the provincial subsidy given the province in 1867.

KINDLY TREATMENT BY INSULAR SAVAGES.

Boston, April 11.—A letter has been received from Captain Morrison of the ship Rainier, lost in the Pacific Ocean, January 3rd, near Ujaal Island, of the Marshall group. When the vessel went among the breakers natives came off in boats and took the captain and crew ashore 15 miles from the point of the wreck. There are 50 inhabitants on the island, governed by a king. The natives were very kind, and did everything for the comfort of the crew. Some of them can speak English, having learned it from traders. The island is three miles long and 250 miles from the nearest main land. The nearest land is the Philippine Islands. The fourth day after their arrival Capt. Morrison sent the second officer and four seamen in a barque to see if they could obtain assistance by running across a ship or steamer. The boat was sighted by the British barque Cataline, and taken to Saigon, where news was immediately telegraphed. The letter received was sent in this boat. At the time the letter was written everybody was in good health. Mrs. Humphreys of Bath was well. The crew of the Rainier consisted of twenty-seven men. The sails had been taken from the ship and formed into tents, in which the parties live. Captain Morrison is being royally entertained by the king of the island.

FILIBUSTERING IN CUBA.

Madrid, April 12.—Official advices received from Cuba by the War Department are to the following effect:—Auzero's band remained only one day near Cardenas, and all is now quiet at that place. After landing near Hicacos the insurgents were followed to the east in the direction of Moreon, where they were joined by several persons. Thence they went toward Macuga, in order to reach Puerto, the principal and old revolutionary district of Bazamo. Aguero did not dare attempt a direct landing there, because he knew the south-east coast of Cuba was watched with special vigilance. His band was greatly increased during the march of eight days, and is now not far from 1400 strong. According to the latest advices his force arrived on the 10th instant in the neighbourhood of Ciego de Anila. They passed on the preceding day through the district of Santa Espirita. The insurgents were received with acclamation in the villages, where the patrocinadoes and freed slaves themselves had joined the column after firing four plantations and sacking the safe of the Receiver of Taxes. The Receiver of Trinidad, who was making his rounds from the direction of Santa Espirita, accompanied by an ordinary escort of 20 conceradoes, fell into the hands of the insurgents, who took from him several thousand dollars. Aguero and the army will reach early in the week the mountains of Las Lunas and of Bayhma, the old seat of the late insurrection. Captain-General Coulio holds two councils of war a day.

NOTES EXPLANATORY OF MAP.

In the list of stations the column headed W.T. gives the state of the weather at 9 a.m., b standing for blue sky; c, detached clouds; d, drizzling rain; f, fog; g, gloomy; m, misty; o, overcast; p, passing showers; r, rain; t, thunder; u, threatening. The next column, Max gives the maximum temperature for previous 24 hours. Min the corresponding minimum temperature; Rain the rain for the previous 24 hours. The symbols used in the map are explained in the centre of it. At each coast station the wind symbol is placed like a vane pointing to the direction from which the wind is coming. A clear circle with it means fine weather; a circle with bar, cloudy weather; and a black spot, raining. Next to this symbol are placed figures denoting the number of miles the wind is moving per hour; next, a symbol showing the state of the sea; and, lastly, figures denoting the shade temperature at 9 a.m. The barometer curve shows the state of barometers round the coast from Perth to Cooktown:—Pt, Perth; Ay, Albany; Ea, Eucla; CB, Cape Borda; A, Adelaide; Ro, Robe; P, Portland; M, Melbourne; W P, Wilson's Promontory; Go, Gabo; E, Eden; Ma, Moruya; G O, Jervis Bay; Wg, Wollongong; S, Sydney; N, Newcastle; P M, Port Macquarie; C, Clarence River; B, Brisbane; R, Rockhampton; Ct, Cooktown. Inland the state of barometer is given in figures at Albury, Deniliquin, Wentworth, Bourke, and Alice Springs. The barometer curve enables one at a glance to trace the depressions, beginning in Western Australia, and passing along eastwards; northerly winds preceding them and southerly following.

NEW CALEDONIA AND ITS PENAL SETTLEMENT.

(BY OUR SPECIAL COMMISSIONER.)

VI.

An inquiry into the penal system of New Caledonia involves not one important issue only, but many important issues. It is a question which of its very nature holds within it the whole well-being and development of the colony. In the establishment of a convict settlement, with the object of colonisation out of the elements of such a class as this represents, France re-attempts an experiment which has been made time after time by ancient as well as modern nations, and always—without one exception to set against the experience—with absolute and indisputable failure. Yet France would have us believe that she in her attempt has achieved that in which all others have failed. In such a question as the one here dealt with, not only all the interests of the colony itself, but also the security or immunity from injury to the well-being of those foreign colonies which in any way, from geographical or other causes, may be endangered, are vitally concerned. In the first place, in endeavouring to make such an inquiry, it will be necessary to trace the growth of the convict settlement; then to consider the nature of this root of colonisation, the acts and characters of those who compose it, the success which has attended the efforts to place them on the land and make honest agriculturists out of such material; then to consider the agricultural resources of the island and its possibilities, to examine the nature and extent of its commercial enterprises and undertakings, and from such information as has been gleaned on these subjects to deduct the probability or otherwise of danger to Australia from neighbourhood with such a settlement. Furthermore, it will be desirable to consider whether the experience of the years passed by the natives of the surrounding islands—taken from their homes to New Caledonia, there to work as labourers side by side with criminals in the colony is—under the system adopted by the Government of the island—one calculated to bring good or evil to these people, and those to whom ultimately they will return. Upon the answer given to these two great divisions of the question—namely, the desirableness of a penal settlement in the Pacific as judged from its acts and working; and, secondly, the effect of the mingling of the native inhabitants of Polynesia with the transported criminals of France, depends the third matter to be considered—the annexation by France of the New Hebrides. One other question remains, and that is whether the system of penal settlement in New Caledonia is not one which involves the French nation in far greater expense than would the detention and punishment of the same criminals in France itself, and whether the philanthropical efforts which have attempted to reform the transportees by giving them an opportunity to aid in the building up of a new colony have not proved to be a failure, and so far from such clemency being an incentive to a better life, has it not been a stimulant to further evil deeds?

It was in the month of March, 1864, that the frigate L'Iphigenie disembarked the first transportees to New Caledonia. These men had been selected from those prisoners whose trade was building in its various branches, the object being to utilise their labour in the construction of the necessary buildings and prisons to accommodate the other convicts who were to follow them. Ile Nou, from its isolation from the mainland, and other advantages as before described, was selected as the site for the prison, and the transportees were at once conveyed there and set to work. Previous to the French occupation, Ile Nou had been the residence of a Mr. Paddon, an Englishman, at one time lieutenant in the British navy, and who, it is stated, "was actually interred in the cemetery at Noumea with military honours as the founder of the French colony of Nouvelle Calédonie, and this although he had at one time to flee for his life and make his escape in an open boat from New Caledonia to the coast of Queensland." In addition to the great advantage which the position of the island offered, it was also well watered, and the soil was rich and productive. From the heights encircling Noumea, cannon could—and afterwards they were placed on these vantage points—command the island, and, if necessary, pour a fire of shot right into the heart of the settlement. The transportees on their arrival were addressed by the Governor of the Island, who, in a long speech, gave utterance to many humanitarian sentiments, and thus the experiment was inaugurated. By the following year very considerable advancement was made in the work at the island. The penitentiary was constructed, and the offices and residences of the officials had been erected, as also had the hospital, barracks, workshops, forges, storehouses, &c. All was ready for the convicts. In addition to the erection of buildings, a garden had been laid out and planted with fruit trees, vegetables, &c. Roads also had been prepared, and water brought into the settlement. His Excellency the Governor, when he visited the island at the completion of these works, was so delighted with the transformation that had been wrought that he—this is peculiarly French—honoured the labourers by conferring upon them the title of "Workmen of the Transportation" (Ouvriers de la Transportation). Lest the honour should be too barren a one were it alone, he gave them a feast to celebrate the occasion. So far all had gone well, but early in the year 1866 the serenity of the administration was disturbed by the evasion of two prisoners. They had found means to cross the strait dividing the island from the mainland, and thence made their way inland. The gendarmes were useless in such a case, and some natives were secured to track the men, this being the birth of a hatred that at the present is strong and deep between the natives and convict population.

There is no work in which the native police delight more than in running an escaped convict to earth. They track him through the bush like a pack of hounds, and he need expect no mercy if he falls into their hands and offers but the least resistance to furnish an excuse for ill-usage, and perhaps a fatal blow on the head from one of their clubs. There is to-day a large force of these people employed, each tribe furnishing so many according to arrangement. They wear a uniform of blue trousers and blouse, with a piece of red cloth on the arm. Any day in the streets of Noumea these fellows, armed with clubs which have a sort of sharp knob near the end, can be seen following convicts who have been sent away from the gang on some business or message. If any attempt is made to escape by the convict the native follows him, and one blow from the club may end the prisoner's sentence and his days. I saw at Ile Nou the skull of a convict who had been killed by a blow from one of these clubs. A round piece of bone had been indented on it, and when this bone was removed there had been left a hole almost as round as that made in a pane of glass by the stone from a schoolboy's catapult. Assaults by convicts on natives, or vice versa, are common; indeed, it would be hard to over-state the bitterness of feeling existing between the two.

The evades were captured by the natives and brought back to the authorities. They were used indulgently on the occasion of this, the first evasion, and about the same time the Government authorised the engagement of convicts in the houses of the colonists. It was found that it would be necessary to outwardly distinguish those men who would be permitted to enter service in the houses of the colonists from other persons, and so these concessionnaires were made to shave their faces, have their hair cropped, and wear the convict clothes. The initiation of the new concession was speedily followed by six evasions. This was a little too much even for the Governor, with all his humanitarian views, to bear; and the men being captured, the prisoners in the penitentiary were assembled, and in their presence the evades were soundly flogged. In December, 1867, the Governor announced that on account of the failure of the milder means that had hitherto been used, in future more severe measures would be taken to punish those of the convicts who were found to be incorrigible; but the Administration offered still greater concessions to those who behaved themselves. Several convicts were given conditional liberty, and were put on the land, and authorised to work for their livelihood a definite time for the termination of their period of surveillance, and the return to full freedom being also fixed. The extent of the grants of land was two hectares—a hectare is equal to nearly two acres and a-half—and this concession was to be doubled if the convict were married, his wife being permitted to join him in the colony. It would be trebled if he had several children. The concessionnaires were given articles of food, agricultural implements, and other means to assist them in the work of colonisation and of earning their own bread. What was the consequence of these philanthropic efforts? What all experience has shown it to be—ingratitude and injury to their would-be benefactors. The evasions increased. There were at this time—only three years since the inauguration of the penitentiary—about 2000 convicts in the colony, and already 50 convicts had baffled all surveillance, and had made their escape. Some of them perished; others, worn out with fatigue and hunger, voluntarily gave themselves up; and several were pursued and captured. A French writer, to whom I am indebted for many of the facts stated in this article, thus expresses his views of the hopelessness of making an agricultural population out of such an element as that composed of the men whom it was thus attempted to settle on the land:—"The country, free cultivation, children, family, wages, economy, are to them words void of sense. The prospect of profits quickly acquired and without work, of all the appetites and vices gratified, that is their reflection in exile, the dream of their nights and the thought of their days, and it is that which raises them to the point of braving the prison, punishment, prolongation of their sentence, and death itself."

AUSTRALIA AND TRANSPORTATION.

The following is a translation of a lengthy article by Mr. J. Bernier, published in the Neo-Caledonien of April 28:—

"The protests of the Australian colonies against the transportation of criminals, and especially against the New Caledonian recidivistes, assume proportions which merit our serious attention. If we are to believe the journals of these colonies, the presence of the penal element in New Caledonia, or in the neighbouring islands, will be a danger to the possessions of Her Britannic Majesty. The question was plainly put at the Sydney International Conference, by the representatives of New South Wales, Victoria, and even of Tasmania, where probably one of our escaped criminals has never set foot. In London the Agents-General of these colonies have brought it under the notice of the Government, representations have been made to France, diplomacy is concerned with it, as also the press of the two nations. In short, it has been said during all this agitation, that Australia has never had convicts, that the numerous batches of immigrants which arrive there every year only contain models of virtue, not an adventurer, not a thief, not an old offender; that the gaols of Sydney, Melbourne, and Brisbane are only filled with criminals escaped from our seaport prisons, and that every day boatloads of galley slaves leave our shores to invade Australian territory. This assumption is pushed so far that they already speak in their journals of putting our ships in quarantine, and of closing their ports to French trade." After ridiculing the idea of such steps being seriously contemplated, the writer continues—"This manœuvre has in reality only one end, which no one here is ignorant of, and which should be unmasked, that of preventing, by the intervention of England, the annexation of the New Hebrides by France. It is owing to our enterprises in these islands that this question of escaped prisoners has cropped up all at once like a spectre well calculated to frighten silly people. As to any danger that the neighbourhood of transportation brings to the Australians, our worthy and cunning neighbours believe in it no more than we do. The Government of New Caledonia has never failed to demand the extradition of individuals reported by the Australian authorities as having escaped from our prisons. Whenever a case of this kind has occurred, the photograph of the prisoner is sent to the different camps to be identified, and a superintending officer goes at once to Australia, to bring him back to prison. And so to satisfy the pretended fears of Australia, we have, since the 5th November, 1883 (that is, for the last six months), an officer who visits the prisons of Sydney, Melbourne, and Brisbane, to verify the identity of all inmates suspected of having escaped from our gaols, and thus the extradition of an escaped prisoner costs us nearly 600 francs. It is impossible that, with all these precautions, there remain in the Australian possessions enough of our escaped prisoners to give even one policeman a day's work. . . . It transpires from reports furnished to the French Government by the Australian authorities that the number of individuals of French origin arrested in the whole of these possessions, and suspected to be escaped prisoners has been, from April 3, 1883, to February 27, 1884, only 32, and of these 32 only 7 have been identified as escaped prisoners. But here is something still better. In Queensland, according to the official list furnished by the local authorities to the French Consul, the number of escaped prisoners arrested from 1875 to the end of 1883, amounts to 42 in all, without counting the St. Vincent band, composed of 8 liberes, a matter still doubtful. Almost all these have been brought back. At present we expect 14 of them, whom a superintending officer has gone to look for. These are the escapees which imperil a society of two millions of men, which make readers of the Times shake their heads, and which threaten to disturb the friendly relations of two great powers. It was truly a great pity to make so much fuss for such a miserable cause. If Australia is so touchy regarding our criminals, why should not we in our turn demand that she should take back all the strangers who have made their escape from Sydney or Melbourne and taken refuge under our protection? And, furthermore, what makes all these protestations still more comical, is that these colonies which cry out so much against our criminals, are not always very ready to give them up, and that when, as sometimes happens, an escapee is also a good workman, they take the liberty of keeping him, and take care to object to his extradition. These are facts which we have long known, and here is another which transpired very lately at Brisbane. Inspector Leger, while visiting that city, discovered there three escaped prisoners." The names and addresses of these persons follow, and the article goes on to say that "while the question of extraditing two of them is still in abeyance, the extradition of the third had been refused by the Brisbane police on the ground that he was a married man with a family, and that his conduct for years had been exemplary—which was saying, in fact, that they wanted to keep him. If the Australians find that our convicts can become by association with them honest colonists and good fathers of families, if they interest themselves in these criminals to the extent of refusing their extradition contrary to international right, of what imaginary peril can they complain, and whom do they hope to deceive by their jeremiads? In the face of these facts the conduct of France is well defined. The Government of the Republic has only to fulfil resolutely its mission in the Pacific, and we shall see all these outcries that nothing justifies die away of themselves."

DR. GATLING TALKS ABOUT HIS GUNS

(From the Cleveland Leader.)

"In 1861 I was living at Indianapolis. The war had broken out and the country was all excitement. My house was within a few blocks of the depot, and I was often present here when volunteers were departing for the field, and also when their dead bodies were at times shipped back home in boxes for burial. One surprise to me was that the number of men killed by sickness and disease was not more than those killed by ball or actual battle. One day, I remember, nineteen corpses were landed at the depot; three had been killed in battle. The thought then struck me if a gun could be invented that would do the work of a hundred men, and would require but a few men to operate it, that the horrors of war would be greatly diminished, and an end would come much sooner of every struggle. More men could stay at home, and lives would be saved. The thought took such hold on me that I commenced to work on it at once. The result was the Gatling gun.

"My first guns were made in Cincinnati, and they would fire from 150 to 250 shots per minute. I had six of them manufactured in 1862, when the foundry was burned by incendiaries—I suppose rebel sympathisers—and the guns were destroyed. Next I had 13 guns made at what is now the type foundry in Cincinnati, and these I sent on by my partner, a wealthy merchant of Cincinnati, to Washington to persuade the Government to introduce them. He took them to Baltimore, where he left 12, and went with the other to Washington. The Chief of the Ordnance Department at the time was an old fogy. He received him coldly, told him he had no faith in his gun, and that he believed flint-lock muskets were, on the whole the best weapons for warfare. In short, he would have nothing to do with him. My partner then left Washington and returned to Baltimore. Ben Butler was there with his troops. He had heard of the guns, and he asked to see them work. As soon as he had done so he said he would buy them on his own responsibility, and did so, giving his voucher for 12,000 dollars for them. My partner had this cashed; but at this time there was a great fall in pork, and 50,000 hogs which he had packed in Chicago with the expectation of a rise had to be sold. In a word, the break in the market ruined him, and my money went with him. So, for the first 20 guns I had made at a great cost to myself, I received nothing. Ben Butler took the guns he had brought with him to the battle of Petersburg and fired them himself upon the rebels. They created great consternation and slaughter, and the news of them went all over the world. Now they are used by all the leading Governments of Europe and also in Asia and Africa. They enabled the Prussians to conquer Austria in 1866, though the Austrians had the larger forces, and they shortened the war by Germany and France, so that it practically lasted but a few days.

"The Gatling guns are now made in Hartford, in this country, and in Europe at Newcastle-on-Tyne. I sell only to Governments, and the United States uses many of my guns. They now take part in all wars, and you have seen the reports of the work they have done in Egypt."

"How far will the Gatling gun send a ball?"

"From two to three miles. The new improvements which will enable it to be fired into the air are such that the ball, when it falls to the earth, acquires from the force of gravity such a velocity that when it reaches the ground it will pass through a plank two inches thick. This is at a distance of 3000 yards from the place of firing."

"Will it shoot accurately?"

"Yes. We can aim the gun at a plank nailed to a support several thousand yards away, and by moving the gun rapidly along while firing we can cut a line through the board as though it were sawed. Bullets of different sizes are used in different guns. No two bullets leave the gun at the same time; but when you consider that 1200 shots can be fired in a minute, you will see how rapidly and regularly it works."

THE UNEMPLOYED.

In consequence of certain representations made to the Colonial Secretary as to the number of unemployed who could be found sleeping in the Domain any night, Sub-inspector Hyam and Senior-sergeants Pirie and Robinson were instructed to make a search on Friday night, and collect information which would show the true state of affairs so far as the Domain was concerned. The officers mentioned commenced their duties soon after midnight, and were accompanied by some of the delegates for the unemployed. The first place visited was some timber on the eastern portion of Circular Quay. A man was found lying amongst the timber. He was well dressed, said he had employment, but having taken a little drink had lain down where he was found. The party then proceeded to the western side of Lady Macquarie's Chair. Here seven men were found. They had not taken the trouble to select a dry place, but were lying upon damp marshy ground, some being actually in water. Strangely enough, some of the men had placed pieces of newspaper under them. Proceeding a little farther the officers came across a man who was lying in a tolerably well-protected cleft in a rock. He was aged, and not able to work. He claimed the place as his, and said he had been there for 15 months. On one shelf or ledge of rock there were found no less than 12 men and a boy. It was deemed wise to take charge of the boy, and his parents have been communicated with. At another place three men were found sleeping in a fissure in a rock. The "chair" was found to be occupied by seven men. In the vicinity of the chair one man was found who had before him some bushes, which he intended to use to shelter him. In two other cases the men had for coverings pieces of sugar matting. Altogether some 68 men and the boy previously mentioned were found exposed to the weather. The ages of the men ranged from 19 to 75 years of age, the majority being between 30 and 40 years of age. Two described themselves as bootmakers, two as bakers, one as a tailor, one as an engine-fitter, and most of the others as labourers. One of the men was a paralytic, and has since been sent to the Liverpool Asylum. Of the 67 others very few came under the descriptive phrase of being "known to the police." Of those not embraced in that term the police officers formed very favourable opinions, to the effect that they were genuine cases of actual distress, and that the men were able and willing to work, but had not been able to secure employment. The quality of the clothing of nearly every one of the unemployed was very inferior. One man, aged 44 years, said he was a gardener; he had a wife and four children in New Zealand; he had been away for some months, and had neither been able to get employment nor to get back to his family. Two men said they came to this colony from America about nine weeks ago, but had not been able to get work. One of them was 40 and the other 35 years of age. The elder is described as being a hardy, wiry sort of man, and the other as being a "regular nugget." A number of the men represented that whenever they had sixpence they got a bed in one of the sixpenny restaurants. Four said that they much preferred the rocks to the Refuge.

Representations were made to the Hon. Alexander Stuart, Colonial Secretary, on Friday, by Messrs. Flower, M'Evoy, and others, that upwards of 80 men slept in the Domain the previous night, and on the following day were starving. Mr. Stuart at once requested the Inspector-General of Police to inquire into the truth of this statement, and suggested that he might urge upon the authorities of the Benevolent Asylum and also those of the Charity Organisation Society to exercise, under the circumstances, some increased degree of liberality. The Goverment, Mr. Stuart said, would be prepared to assist the funds of these institutions if they were unduly drawn upon. He preferred that such cases should pass through the investigation of such societies rather than that the Government should give direct aid in money and food, but at the same time he authorised the Inspector-General of Police to deal with any cases of a pressing nature by affording immediate relief. Mr. Fosbery had the necessary investigation made, and reporting to the Colonial Secretary on the subject on Saturday, informed him that there were always many persons, chiefly of the vagrant class, who slept in the parks and the Domain at night; but there could be no doubt that at the present time there was more distress than usual, and he continued, "The season is inclement, the homeless are very poorly clad, and they have no means of procuring food, being out of work." The Benevolent Asylum, he pointed out, had not sufficient accommodation to provide for such cases in any number; the Charity Organisation Society relieved a great many cases of want temporarily, but the rule of that society was not to continue to support or relieve any able-bodied men who could work for their living. Under these circumstances he suggested that some building should be used for the purpose of affording shelter to those who were wholly destitute, and he mentioned the old temporary police barrack, near the Treasury, as a suitable place. A couple of blankets, plenty of soap and water, and a good meal of bread and cheese, he said, would provide the necessary relief, and put heart into the unfortunate people, most of whom were willing and anxious to work, and the building might be placed in charge of a sergeant of police. Mr. Stuart at once approved of these suggestions, and requested Mr. Fosbery to see that they were carried out.

Accordingly the old temporary police barrack was set apart, and Sub-inspector Hyam was placed in charge. Of course the building is quite unsuited to the purposes of a lodging-house. It is a weatherboard building having verandahs at the back and front. The place is about 66 feet in length, and, irrespective of the verandahs, about 16 feet in width. Including the space occupied by the verandahs, the total width is 28 feet. 200 blankets were conveyed to the place, and with a view to giving breakfast to the number who were expected to sleep on the premises on Saturday night, 40 loaves of bread and 20lb. of cheese were procured.

On Saturday morning one of the delegates for the unemployed was at the Prince Albert Statue surrounded by a number of unemployed, whom he informed he had received from the Public Works Office a list of various places where 244 men might obtain employment at a wage of 6s. per day, with an addition of 6d. to such as proved themselves good labourers at road-making and drain-cutting. The list was as follows:—Newbridge, near Bathurst, 36; Stroud, 32; Yass and Gunning, 42; Orange, 50; Warga (Monday), 9; Wagga (Thursday), 9; Muswellbrook, 20; Cowra, 16; Goulburn, 30.

The officers of the Roads Department were, we are informed, instructed at the beginning of the present rush for work to invite tenders and let all the work possible, providing with the contractors that they should employ a certain number of men from Sydney, the contractors paying at least 6s. a day, to be increased to 6s. 6d. it the men proved efficient, the men taking their own bedding, the contractors providing other camp appliances, and making arrangements to supply rations at the men's own cost. This arrangement was considered better than Government employing the men direct, as it has been found that embarrassing questions arise as to valises and equipments other than tents and tools. A list of places was given to the representatives of the unemployed where over 200 men could be employed this (Monday) morning, in addition to 30 or 40 at Goulburn and Glenbrook under previous arrangements. Further arrangements have been made to employ 20 or 30 men at Glenbrook, at clearing; but we learn from the department none have responded. The men at Glenbrook, Hunter's Hill, Botany, and Liverpool have been paid, and no complaint as to earnings received, except from Liverpool, where a concession has been made to the effect that scrub need not be burned off at present. At Emu, Hunter's Hill, and Botany the wages earned have averaged over 6s. per day, and the men expressed their satisfaction. Forty were taken on Friday at Bondi. In all so far, the Roads Department has arranged for the employ of 700 men, and that number will be increased most likely by 300 this week.

A number of the unemployed assembled at the Prince Albert statue on Saturday afternoon, and having been formed in procession, marched to Belmore Park, proceeding thither by way of Pitt-street. Six of the foremost men carried placards pasted on cardboard, and borne on short sticks. On each placard were the following words:—"We have no home, and are starving. We are willing to work." In another portion of the procession were six other men carrying placards, having upon them the words, "We are the unemployed." It is estimated that there were 600 men in the procession, which was accompanied by five men who carried cash boxes. Donations were received en route. On arrival at Belmore Park a meeting was held. On the motion of Mr. Henry Brown, seconded by Mr. Carlow, it was resolved,—"That the Government be asked to consider the advisableness of granting free passes to the people who have been brought out here under the present fictitious immigration system to go back to the land from whence they came; and in the event of their returning to this colony a heavy penalty to be enforced." The next resolution was moved by Mr. Flower, and was as follows:—"That this meeting is of opinion that the charity organisations at present in existence in this city are totally inadequate to meet the dire distress which at present prevails; and that the Government be asked to provide reasonable means to meet the present deplorable situation." He described what he saw when he visited the Domain early that morning, and said that, although he had seen in the old country very hard times, he had never in his life seen so much misery and degradation and poverty as prevailed in this city. Many of the people found in caves in the rocks had not tasted food for two or three days. He alluded to the fact that he had asked the Government to set aside the Immigration Depot as a barracks to afford shelter to the unemployed in distress; and in addressing the employed who were present at the meeting he said: "These men—or at least many of them—have refused to work for 5s. a day, because if they did go to work for 5s. a day, you who are in receipt of 7s., 8s., 9s., and 10s. a day would have your wages reduced, or you would have to make room for others. You ought to look upon this matter as though it were a strike—as if these men were fighting your battles, and not their own alone. They have had the manliness and courage to say 'We will not work under the current rate of wages.'" Mr. H. Darke, in seconding the resolution, said: "As regards the charities of Sydney, some of them are very good, and others are most disgraceful. For instance, the Soup Kitchen and Refuge. I have been there with some of my friends, and I know the place is a disgrace to any civilised community. What has it been during the last 20 years? Nothing more nor less than a refuge for public-house loafers. There is a great deal of charity, or professed charity, in New South Wales, which is no charity at all. Charity is a thing I don't believe in, nor do I believe any Englishman under the British flag believes in charity." He described his own personal experiences, and strongly urged his hearers not to go into the country. While they were in the city they were near the seat of government, but if they went into the country their bones might bleach under the trees. The resolution was carried, and it was decided to forward both resolutions to the Colonial Secretary.

The men then marched back to the statue, proceeding via George-street. Some time after arrival at the statue an announcement was made to the effect that the cash boxes had been opened at a committee meeting, and were found to contain £10 19s. 5½d. £6 of that money was distributed amongst the fathers of families, which it was said were in circumstances of great distress; and it was intimated that the Government had allotted the old police barracks in Macquarie-street as a place of refuge for such men as chose to go there. 110 were formed in marching order and proceeded to the old police barracks, where they arrived about half-past 7 o'clock.

Police officers had been detailed for duty in the Domain to visit the haunts which were inspected on Saturday morning, with instructions to advise whomsoever they might find to repair to the barracks. Sub-inspector Hyam, who was at the barracks, expected men to drop in in twos and threes, and was quite unprepared for them arriving in a body. The first intimation he had of the arrival of those who were to be committed to his care was the command "Halt," followed immediately afterwards by the order "File in by twos." The bread and cheese which it had been intended to serve out next morning were at once distributed, and a further supply was obtained. Most of the men remained to sleep on the premises, but as the floor space was not sufficient for more than about two-thirds of the number, the remainder had to lie upon the verandahs, a sleeping place which was not much superior to the caverns in the rocks. At the barracks, however, the men were provided with blankets, so that they were not quite so much exposed to the weather. All the men were exceedingly orderly, and having again been supplied with bread and cheese, left the place before 5 minutes past 8 o'clock in the morning. Last evening the men returned to the barracks, and their numbers were reinforced. They were again supplied with bread and cheese and blankets. At 10 o'clock there were 138 men lying upon the floors of the barracks and verandah. Amongst the number was a large proportion of young men. Five were new arrivals, one having landed in Tasmania, one in Queensland, and three in New South Wales during the last six months. Some one who was prepared to find employment for a bootmaker called at the barracks last evening, but no one answered when an inquiry was made for a bootmaker.

A VISIT TO THE MODEL LODGING-HOUSE.

Persons who are desirous of accurately gauging the state of the labour market, and of becoming acquainted with the difficulties of getting employment, could not do better than visit the Model Lodging-house, situated in Kent-street. And here it may be remarked that it is questionable whether there is any similar institution in the metropolis which serves its purpose so well and confers such an undoubted benefit upon the community as does this institution. The Model Lodging-house is not a charitable institution, there being nothing whatever about it of a pauperising character, otherwise its usefulness would be destroyed. The building consists of four stories and a basement. Each floor is lofty, well lighted, and perfectly ventilated. There is always a strong current of fresh air passing through each dormitory, but at such a height that the lodgers are never subjected to the dangers of a draught. Should the building be visited at any hour of the day or night by any one who has any knowledge of charitable institutions and other places where large numbers of men are crowded together, he is struck with the purity of the atmosphere, there being an entire absence of that frowsy smell which so quickly forces visitors away from most buildings of an eleemosynary character. The Model Lodging-house is the sleeping place of wharf labourers, firemen, and others employed on vessels, artisans and labourers out of employment, immigrants, and occasionally of beings who adopt strange methods of obtaining a livelihood. In the establishment there are two classes of beds. For one of these a charge of 9d. is made, and for the other of 1s. There are only 20 of the latter description, and about 180 of the former, so that the place is capable of affording shelter to 200 persons. The institution is also provided with a large reading-room (in which there is a goodly supply of newspapers, &c.), lavatories, fumigating-room, luggage-rooms, and other conveniences. The bedsteads are of iron, with the necessary mattresses and bedding, and seem to be very comfortable. There is a certain proportion of the sleepers who always occupy the same beds, amongst the number being some 40 or 50 men who are employed about the wharfs. Many of the latter have slept at the institution nightly for at least 11 months past. The weather has a very noticeable effect upon the number of lodgers. Warm or mild weather invariably produces a diminution in the numbers, and wet and inclement nights always add large reinforcements to the number of sleepers. The conclusion arrived at by the manager with respect to the fluctuation in the number of visitors is that large numbers of persons who resort to the Domain and other places in mild weather, fly to the institution for shelter when the weather is unusually severe. On several occasions recently the manager has had to turn away applicants because they were unable to pay for beds. Amongst the number he subsequently ascertained was an immigrant, for whose bed he would himself have paid, had he known that the applicant was a new arrival. On another night recently the manager—who has had too much experience to allow of his being readily imposed upon by unworthy persons—took compassion upon two new arrivals who were without means, and paid for their beds. On Saturday night there were in the institution 180 persons. Some 40 or 50 were immigrants, and of that number about 20 (who are to proceed into the country to-day) arrived by the Belgravia. The other 20 were passengers by the Aberdeen, Cambodia, and other vessels. Whatever mistakes may have been made in the past with regard to the selection or non-selection in England of persons suitable for this colony, no one can look at the men staying at the Model Lodging-house without coming to the conclusion that they are the kind of men who will help materially to make of New South Wales a good nation. It is true that for the most part they are carpenters and joiners, and other tradesmen who are unable at present to obtain employment; but had they arrived at almost any other period of the history of the colony, they would readily have been absorbed. They are intelligent, strong, healthy, and for the most part young men; and moreover are men who are not afraid to labour, although that labour may not be of the kind to which they have been accustomed. And it may also be said of them they are men who, however dire the distress in which they might find themselves, would shrink from proclaiming their poverty, and would scorn to do anything that savoured of asking charity. One poor fellow—a young man—is the object of commiseration on all hands, and is, nevertheless, forced to live on the charity of his shipmates. He has slept in the place for some seven weeks, and although he has day after day, wearily tramped in search of employment he has not been successful. Occasionally he disappears to make a march into the country, but only to meet with disappointment. Last week he was absent for three days, and those days he spent in a tramp of 60 miles. He saw one or two works upon which he had hoped to get employment, but was told by the contractors they could not put on any more hands. An evening or two ago he was standing near the Model Lodging-house, and Mrs. Stimson, wife of the manager, invited him to come inside, and have something to eat, but he thanked her, and said he had had tea—one of his shipmates, whom he named, having paid for it for him. Another of the new arrivals is a fine, strong, healthy young man, who in England had permanent occupation as a carpenter and joiner. He is at present at work digging out foundations for a house, and is in receipt of 8s. per day, a wage with which he is thoroughly well satisfied. He was in the colony six weeks before he obtained the work upon which he is at present employed, and states it is a job which is not likely to last long that he had even expected it to terminate on Saturday, and that he would be glad indeed to obtain permanent employment at his trade. Incidentally, a question arose as to what kind of employer he had, and the worker displayed an admirable trait of his own character by remarking in a very emphatic manner, "My master is a true gentleman." The immigrant alluded to states that he has a brother who is on his way hither, and another who contemplates coming to the colony, but he intends to write and dissuade the latter from coming. Another new arrival who was spoken to is a carpenter and joiner who left permanent employment to come to New South Wales. In England he was in receipt of 32s. per week. He is now receiving 35s. per week, but, he states, the work is of a temporary character. He has had an unpleasant experience of several weeks' employment hunting. He used to get the newspaper at 6 o'clock in the morning, and eagerly scan the "wanted" column. One morning he, in response to an advertisement, went out to a place at Croydon, where he arrived at 7 o'clock, but he was told that two applicants had preceded him, and that the vacancy was filled. Amongst the number of men sent to the Lodging-house by the Government is one who arrived by the Belgravia. He is a married man, and was to have left the ship on Thursday, but induced the officers of the vessel to allow him, his wife, and three children to remain on board on Thursday night. On Friday he, he stated, learnt that his wife and children would be allowed to stay at the immigration depot for a night or two, "otherwise," remarked he, "I should not have known where to take them to." He states that most of the married couples who arrived by the vessel have their friends, to whom they have gone, but he is quite a stranger here. He is a carpenter and joiner, but intends to proceed into the country with a view to seeing whether he can obtain employment in connection with agricultural pursuits or at any other occupation.

During the month of April of last year the number of persons who slept in the institution was 3621, as against 4901 for April of this year. The average number of persons who lodged in the building for the first eight days of May of last year was 122, as against an average for the first eight days of the present month of 180.

Epps' Cocoa.—Grateful and Comforting.—"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavoured beverage, which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.—Made simply with boiling water or milk.—Sold only in packets labelled—"James Epps and Co., homœopathic chemists, London."
